EU warns Musk of 'sanctions' after Twitter suspends journalists

BRUSSELS: The European Union (EU) on Friday warned Elon Musk that Twitter could be subject to sanctions under a future media law after the "worrying" suspension of several journalists from the messaging platform. "EU's Digital Services Act requires respect of media freedom and fundamental rights. Elon Musk should be aware of that. There are red lines. And sanctions, soon," EU commissioner Vera Jourova posted on Twitter | P19

NO CASE IS SMALL, PERSONAL LIBERTY IS PRECIOUS, SAYS CJI

Attending to grievances on alleged rights violation is the SC's Constitutional duty, said Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud

GIVES RELIEF TO MAN FACING 18-YEAR JAIL TERM

The observation came two days after Law Minister Kiren Rijiju said the Supreme Court should not be hearing "bail applications and frivolous PILs" when pendency of cases is so high. "What are we here for if we do not listen to our conscience?" the bench, also comprising Justice P S Narasimha, said while giving relief to a man sentenced to 18 years in jail for electricity theft

APPELLANT WAS JAILED FOR MINOR OFFENCE

- The accused, a man from Uttar Pradesh called Iqram, was given two years in each of the nine cases against him. But the authorities held that the sentences should run consecutively, instead of concurrently, resulting in 18 years in jail for a minor offence
- The bench ordered that the sentences should run concurrently

Fresh dialogue push by Modi in talks with Putin

Russian leader shares perception on where Ukraine war is headed

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Friday urged Russian President Vladimir Putin to pursue the path of dialogue and diplomacy, saying it was the only way forward to resolve the Ukraine crisis, in their conversation over the phone.

At Modi's request, Putin gave a "principled assessment regarding Russia's policy in Ukraine", the Russian readout of the talks said.

The phone call came days after it emerged that Modi will not fly to Russia for the annual India-Russia summit this year.

Both leaders discussed a whole range of bilateral issues. "While expressing satisfaction with the high level of bilateral cooperation that has been developing on the basis of the Russian-Indian privileged strategic partnership, the two leaders discussed in detail the prospects for practical cooperation in mutual investment, energy, agriculture, transport and logistics," the Kremlin said.

This is the fifth telephonic conversation the two leaders had this year. They spoke first when the conflict began in Ukraine on February 24, a month later they spoke twice on March 2 and 7 and then again on July 1. They also had an in-person meeting in Uzbekistan's Samarkand on the sidelines of the SCO Summit in September. That was when Modi had famously told Putin "Today's era is not of war" while urging him to end the aggression in Ukraine so as to keep global supply chains of food, fuel and fertilisers open.

During Friday's call, Modi briefed Putin on India's ongoing G20 presidency, highlighting its key priorities. He also looked forward to both countries working together when India chairs the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation.

The India-Russia Annual Summit had to be skipped this year due to scheduling issues. This was for the second time in 22 years that the summit did not take place. Last time it was skipped in 2020 due to the outbreak of the pandemic.

Putin had come for the summit to India on December 6, 2021 and had extended an invite to Modi to visit Russia this year, but it could not materialise.

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar had visited Russia last month for talks with his Russian counterpart Sergey Lavrov and Deputy Prime Denis Manturov. Jaishankar had said India would support any initiative that de-risks the global economy.

Another day of missile barrage on Kyiv

The talks came on a day when Russia pounded Ukraine with at least 60 missiles. Explosions were reported in at least four cities, including Kyiv. Ukraine claimed its forces had successfully shot down 37 of about 40 missiles that had entered Kyiv's airspace | P19

Puri: India open to all, including Russia, for energy needs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

UNION MINISTER for Petroleum and Natural Gas Hardeep Singh Puri said India is looking forward to a more comprehensive and intensified engagement with all countries, including Russia, in the energy sector.

The statement came hours after Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Russian President Vladimir Putin had a telephonic conversation to review bilateral ties, including energy cooperation, on Friday. Puri was in Bengaluru to take part in a curtain raiser event of the first edition of the India Energy Week 2023 to be held in Bengaluru from February 6 to 8.

Addressing a press conference, Puri termed India's cooperation with Russia in the energy sector "very widespread". The minister said Russian investment in India in the energy sector is about $13 billion while Indian companies have invested around $16 billion in Russia. "So, the cooperation (with Russia) is already there. We used to buy small quantities of oil from Russia. Until March 31, 2022, it was about 0.2 per cent. Now, Russia has become a prominent supplier along with the UAE, Saudi Arabia, Iraq and Kuwait." P8

Strong India pushback to Bhutto's attack on Modi

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA on Friday lit into Pakistan Foreign Minister Bilawal Bhutto Zardari for name-calling Prime Minister Narendra Modi, describing them as uncivilised comments.

"These comments are a new low, even for Pakistan. The Foreign Minister of Pakistan has obviously forgotten this day in 1971, which was a direct result of the genocide unleashed by Pakistani rulers against ethnic Bengalis and Hindus. Unfortunately, Pakistan does not seem to have changed much in the treatment of its minorities. It certainly lacks credentials to cast aspersions at India," the ministry of external affairs (MEA) said.

Bilawal Bhutto

Bhutto had in a New York press meet alleged that "Osama bin Laden is dead but the butcher of Gujarat is the PM of India."

In its strong pushback, the MEA said, "Pakistan's indisputable role in sponsoring, harbouring, and actively financing terrorist and terrorist organisations remains under the scanner. Pakistan FM's uncivilised outburst seems to be a result of Pakistan's increasing inability to use terrorists and their proxies."

Cities like New York, Mumbai, Pulwama, Pathankot and London are among the many that bear the scars of Pakistan-sponsored, supported and instigated terrorism, it added.

This violence, the foreign office pointed out, emanated from their Special Terrorist Zones and exported to all parts of the world. Make-in-Pakistan terror has to stop, it said acidly.

India underscored the point that Pakistan glorifies Osama bin Laden as a martyr and shelters terrorists like Lakhvi, Hafiz Saeed, Masood Azhar, Sajid Mir and Dawood Ibrahim. "No other country can boast having 126 UN-designated terrorists and 27 UN-designated terrorist entities... "Clearly, the foreign minister was more interested in whitewashing Pakistan's role," the MEA said.

'China trying to attack India but govt sleeping'

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

CONGRESS leader Rahul Gandhi on Friday claimed that China is gearing up for a war with India but the BJP-led government at the Centre is ignoring the grave threat. "I can see the threat of China very clearly. I have been clear on this for the last two-three years, but the government is trying to hide it and ignore it... the Indian government is asleep," he said, referring to clashes on the Line of Actual Control in Arunachal Pradesh and Ladakh.

"The preparation is for war. It is not for incursion, but for war. If you look at China's weapon pattern... they are preparing for war. Our government hides this and is not able to accept it," he said while talking to media persons in Jaipur on the completion of 100 days of Bharat Jodo Yatra.

He also alleged that China has snatched away 2,000 sq km of Indian territory but the Narendra Modi government is hiding the information.

Alleging that the Modi regime does only event-based work and does not work strategically, the former Congress chief said this doesn't work all the time.

"When it comes to geopolitics, events do not work; power does," he said, suggesting that India should take strong steps against the mighty neighbour.

Directly targeting External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar, Rahul said issuing statements after statements is not enough, advising the minister to "deepen his understanding". Jaishankar, a former diplomat who speaks Chinese, was India's ambassador to China from 2009 to 2013.

Rahul's criticism on the Centre drew a sharp response from the BJP, which accused the Congress leader of doubting Indian armed forces' capability and the valour of soldiers.

EC bans pvt agencies from collecting voters' data

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Election Commission of India (ECI) has directed all District Election Officers to take steps to ensure that no private agency engages in collection of voters' data in the state. Chief Electoral Officer (CEO) of Karnataka Manoj Kumar Meena has issued directions in this regard to all officials concerned. He said that any attempt at collecting data by private agencies by way of house-to-house survey or use of fake identity cards will not be allowed.

He added that voter data collection through authentication or issue of no objection certificate (NOC) by DEOs or EROs to any private entity is strictly prohibited.

The CEO pointed out that there are reports appearing in some sections of the media that in a few districts, complaints have been made against some private agencies who are visiting the houses of voters and seeking personal information of the voters manually and through IT applications.

B'luru firm, DRDO making silk blankets for jawans

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

TO ensure that Indian soldiers posted on borders and cold regions are warm and safe, researchers from a Bengaluru-based silk institute are working with the Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO) to make blankets using silk as the inner material, instead of polypropylene.

Normally, blankets (razai) have cotton or polypropylene or polyester inside them which makes them heavy. Under the trials being conducted, the blankets being made from silk will not only make them lighter, but will also have additional electrical circuits to keep them warm in minus 18 degrees Celsius in cold places like the Siachen Glacier.

A Jambunath, in-charge registrar and chief scientist at silk division of Karnataka Silk Industries Corporation Limited, told The New Indian Express that trials began a year ago and it will be a reality soon. The institute is also training individuals, especially women and startups, to make them self-reliant.

While each blanket would cost the DRDO around Rs 45,000-50,000, for citizens, the price will range from Rs 3,000 to Rs 30,000. The institute is working on making premium quality silk blankets for the defence personnel for which one and half kg of silk is used as filling. P9

KIA T2 OPS PUSHED TO NEXT YEAR

Electrical work, landscaping not complete; Was to start domestic flights from Dec-end

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

COMMERCIAL operations at the much-awaited Terminal 2 of Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) will begin only by early 2023. Prime Minister Narendra Modi formally launched the Rs 5,000-crore project on November 11, with a December-end deadline to start domestic operations.

Multiple sources in the airport told TNIE that there are no signs of the launch in the next two weeks, as work remains incomplete. Airport operator Bangalore International Airport Limited (BIAL) did not give any specific launch date, and said details of the launch would be made public next week. "BIAL will officially announce the start of Bengaluru Airport's Terminal 2 operations very soon," said an official statement.

A view of the Terminal-2 of Kempegowda International Airport | EXPRESS

A source familiar with the developments said, "There is no way it can be launched now. Some important finishing work is yet to be completed for domestic operations. We understand it will happen by January 15." Another source said February 15 could be a possibility.

TNIE spoke to various stakeholders for a clearer picture. "The multi-modal transport hub with car park is not yet ready. The public will have to park in the T1 bay, and it's a long walk to T2, especially with luggage. Though the distance between the two terminals is only 200 metres, one cannot enter T2 from T1, and vice versa," a source said.

Another source said that electrical work is yet to be completed. "Only landscaping was done on the exterior to make it look good during the launch, but landscaping is yet to be done inside," said a staffer.

None of the airlines spoken to said they are scheduled to operate flights from T2 this year.

Much work remains to be done for international operations, which are due to start mid-2023 at T2. "Immigration check area, baggage scanning, retail outlets, installation of full body cameras... but there is enough time," said a source.

The original deadline of March 2021 never materialised due to the pandemic.

CISF to boost strength

The CISF, which is responsible for the overall airport security, will increase its staff strength of nearly 2,200 personnel by 60 per cent. The airport police station would also be increasing staff strength, said a source.

Girinath to parties: Appoint permanent booth managers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath has asked all political parties to appoint permanent booth agents to maintain continuity during weekly meetings for revision of voters' list. He was speaking with regard to checking objections and claims of the draft voters' list on Friday.

Girinath told the media that weekly meetings will be held at the BBMP head office, and will involve additional district election officers and political party agents to check the draft list for corrections under Form 6 (new registration), Form 7 (deletion) and Form 8 (correction with regard to name, address and change of booth).

BBMP has appointed 12 KAS rank officials as the revision process has started, to strengthen the election preparation process, the commissioner stated. Verification of voter information will be done under the leadership of these officials, who will monitor the Booth Level Officers (BLOs).

As per the Election Commission's direction, voter information is being revised in Mahadevapura and Shivajinagar assemblies, where voter data was allegedly tampered with, Girinath said. A complete re-check is in progress, and the date for objections and claims has been extended to December 24.

Voter information for 25 assembly constituencies will be published on the website, and if there are errors, voters and political parties can seek changes. The commissioner stated that information about all BLOs will be published on the website with their phone numbers and ward and street details, for the convenience of voters and political parties. The commissioner also stated that the Palike has received mail addresses of all political parties and is sending them the voter list revision every week.

BDA gives OC for Mantri Serenity, 1st project in city aided by Centre's fund

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) has granted partial occupancy certificate for the Mantri Serenity project in Doddakallasandra village in Bangalore South taluk, making it the first real estate project in the city funded by the special window created by the Centre to get this clearance.

The Swamih Investment Fund, sponsored by the Department of Economic Affairs, was created on November 6, 2019, to provide priority debt financing for the completion of stalled, brownfield (projects stopped due to lack of funds), RERA-registered housing projects in the affordable housing or mid-income category. SBICAP Ventures Ltd is the investment manager for it.

A relieved buyer Santosh Patil expressed his relief over the partial occupancy order issued by the BDA.

TNIE has a copy of the BDA order, which states that 1,240 residential units in the multi-storied Tower-4, Tower-5 and Club House-1 have been given the certification. Tower-4 has 680 flats, including 100 reserved for the economically weaker sections, while Tower-5 has 560 flats. Club House-1 will be a commercial building with a lower ground, ground floor and four floors above it.

Bookings for this project on Kanakapura Road, built by Mantri Castle Pvt Ltd, commenced in 2012. "It stopped construction in 2018 due to fund shortage. It has taken ten years to complete the project. Funding to the tune of nearly Rs 300 crore was offered by the Swamih fund," he said.

The project has two more towers (numbered 1 and 3), which are also completed, but await occupancy certificate. "The four towers which have been completed, happened only due to the Swamih fund. Many families have already moved in and this certification gives them a legal status now," Patil said. Tower-2 was completed in 2015 and was granted the occupancy certificate, while Tower-6 is yet to start construction.

Home buyers of Mantri Serenity Buyers Association have expressed their gratitude to the government for this initiative.

Former MP Subramanian Swamy at REVA Business School Distinguished Lecture Series on Friday | EXPRESS

Innovation will drive India's growth: Swamy

BENGALURU: Former Rajya Sabha member Subramanian Swamy on Friday said that innovation would allow India to grow at a higher rate. Speaking at the REVA Business School (RBS) Distinguished Lecture Series on 'Need of Leaders and Innovators for Better Future Opportunities', he said, "If we introduce more innovations, India would expand at a rate of 10 per cent annually, and this is only feasible with cooperation from people. Every curve in the growth cycle is the result of innovation, and productivity is the long-term result of innovation," he said. Speaking on the need for innovation, he said that the business sector thrives on the need to produce new products to attract people. "In the world, there are two types of people. One is the inventor and the other is the person who helps the inventor. The latter is the leader and has a significant social responsibility. Innovation is the key to developing future leaders," he said.

Migratory birds return to Varthur lake after 20 yrs

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

AFTER a gap of 20 long years, migratory birds like Eurasian Spoon Bill, Godwit, Northern Shoveler, Northern Pintail and Black Winged Stilt have been spotted at Varthur lake.

According to site engineer Manoj Raj Urs from ALCON, Consulting Private Limited, an agency engaged by the BDA for rejuvenation of the lake, "For the first time in 20 years, migratory birds have returned to Varthur lake. Photographs of around 150 bird species have been taken at the lake site since the last one month," he said.

"There was froth up to one metre from the lake's surface. There was lead content. Due to pollution, the migratory cycle of birds was effected," he said, adding that after rejuvenation began over a year ago, migratory and local birds began frequenting the water body.

Jagadish Reddy, member of Varthur Raising, said not just the migratory birds, even local birds have starting arriving.

"As per our knowledge, migratory bird activity had stopped for two years. After a lot of struggle and National Green Tribunal's (NGT) intervention, the government showed interest and the BDA undertook the rejuvenation work. Birds like Grey Heron, Painted Stork, Indian River Tern, Black Headed Ibis and Siberian Stonechat and even ducks have been spotted," Reddy said.

An Indian Tern spotted at Varthur lake in Bengaluru on Friday | EXPRESS

He further added that the lake is shallow at some locations which are ideal and attract many small birds. About 70 per cent of the silt has been cleared, sewage has been diverted and since the last two seasons, the rains have filled parts of the lake which has resulted in birds returning.

Professor T V Ramachandra of the Indian Institute of Science (IISc), wetland expert and member of the NGT panel on Varthur and Bellandur lakes said, he was expecting the return of the birds much earlier.

B'lureans spend heavy online, love their meat, fruits and ice cubes!

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A SURVEY by Swiggy titled 'How India Swiggy'D 2022', released on Thursday, shows that Bengalureans are among the top three Indian citizens who placed the largest orders for food and other essential items.

The report showed that an Instamart user from Bengaluru spent Rs 16.6 lakh on groceries and other essentials. Another customer from Bengaluru placed a single order worth Rs 75,378 during Diwali. He was followed by a customer in Pune, who ordered burgers and fries for his entire team, with a bill value of Rs 71,229. Also, a customer from Bengaluru placed a staggering 118 orders for gourmet dishes in just a week.

Bengalurueans also ordered more ice cubes compared to Mumbai, Chennai and Delhi put together. The healthiest eaters were also reported from Bengaluru, apart from Mumbai, Hyderabad and Pune, who ordered exotic fruits like dragon fruit, pomelo, berries and wood apple. In the meat delivery category, Bengaluru ranked number one, followed by Hyderabad and Chennai. In fact, Bengalureans ordered more meat than Mumbai, Delhi/NCR, Kolkata, Pune and Coimbatore combined. Bengaluru was also listed as one of the top cities that saved the most with Swiggy One. Making the most of the benefits, Bengalureans saved over Rs 100 crore, followed closely by those from Mumbai, Hyderabad and Delhi.

The seventh edition of Swiggy's annual trends report also showed that Biryani is still the most preferred order, and continued to set new records among Indians, with 2.28 Biryani orders placed per second. Ravioli (Italian) and Bibimbap (Korean) also emerged as the most popular choices of the year 2022.

INDIA'S FAVOURITES

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

17th December : A number of people have inquired about whether it is possible to have a star named after them - or their favourite people. The short answer is that it is, but the longer answer is that such names are not recognised by the International Astronomers Union, which regulates such things. You could find that one company names the star after you, but another names the same star after someone completely different!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The gradual drift of your planets around the zodiac is now raising the question of your finances. It looks very much as if your ability to spend money on your own needs will be determined by your relationships with other people. That should restrict your freedom of action, but not for long.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
The Moon's sensitive presence in your chart should make you think again about what partners need, and how you can provide it for them. It's all a question of putting other people first, and realising that your turn will come within about two to three weeks.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
This ought to be a day of work, and even if you have the opportunity to indulge your favourite hobbies you should be putting in much more energy than normal. The fact is, you deserve to do well. Watch out that emotional intensity doesn't undermine your health, though.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You never quite let your serious intentions slip, but even you should relax today and be as youthful, spontaneous and creative as possible. The theme for the day is self-expression, and you should do everything to bring out your personal talents.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
As the Moon sweeps through your chart you should take pains to deal with home and family matters. It is especially important to turn your attention to causes of discontent which may still be active, even though you did your best to deal with them some time ago.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
It's an optimistic day, but one when you can think long and hard about your future plans and prospects. While you may therefore hope for the best, you should tie yourself firmly into what is genuinely possible. There's little point in chasing pipe-dreams at the moment.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
This will almost certainly be an extravagant moment, although thankfully the planets offer you a safety clause: you may not have to keep many of your promises. Some commitments may therefore remain hypothetical, perhaps because other people actually forget about them!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
It is always the case that the Moon's presence in friendly regions of your chart strengthens your emotional position. You may therefore find other people, including those to whom you are intimately linked, will gently bow to your Scorpionic will.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The Sun sails through your chart, very subtly awakening areas of your personality which have lain dormant for too long. Over the next couple of days, you may display a tendency to retreat into yourself, after which you will finally re-emerge very much more confident than before.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Venus and Jupiter are an excellent team and are soon to reward all your efforts with extra material benefits. Your spending plans, in the meantime, may be rather more grandiose than necessary. Actually, it might pay to be more realistic in future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Some of your latent ambitions will be awakened today, including a desire to fall in love all over again, to travel, and to see the world. It is a moment for adventure, not for taking the easy option. See to it that the people who need to know what you're doing are kept up to date.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Today's most powerful planetary patterns arouse your secret feelings. You must realise that some of your dreams can be very expensive to implement. But dreaming of course is free! You'll face questions when somebody expects you to back up your words with actions.

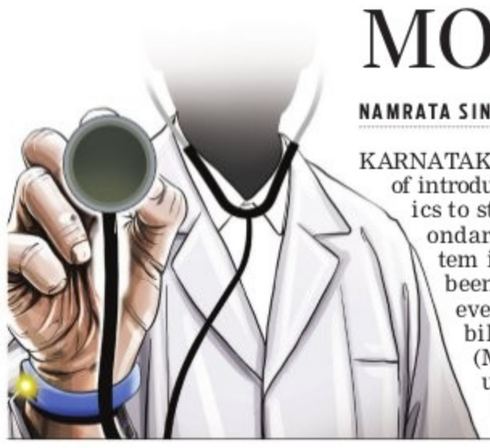
Woman, hubby nabbed for brandishing machete

Mysuru City Police, who had registered a case against a man and his wife for brandishing a machete in front of KSRTC officers when they tried to serve them a notice following a court order, launched a search operation to nab the woman, Syed Munibunnisa and her husband Shafiq Ahmed, who remained at large. On Friday, they were arrested from near a village in Kodagu district.

MOBILE CLINICS GO OFF HEALTH MISSION GRID



NAMRATA SINDWANI @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA'S new initiative of introducing Namma Clinics to strengthen the secondary healthcare system in Karnataka has been applauded. However, services of Mobile Medical Units (MMUs), launched under the National Health Mission (NHM) in 2017 with a similar aim, took the backseat since the initial months of 2022. MMU services have been stopped in Karnataka because of budget constraints.

Seventy MMUs were launched to provide services under 12 different areas, like maternal health, reproductive health, geriatric care, dental and eye care, and even emergency medicine in the remote areas of Karnataka. However, zero mobile units are running in the state.

The quarterly NHM report dated June 30, 2022, stated that no MMUs were functional under the National Rural Health Mission (NRHM), and three MMUs were operating under the National Urban Health Mission (NUHM).

However, D Randeep, Commissioner, health and family welfare department, told TNIE that all the MMUs were stopped in April 2022 itself, due to budget constraints. The state did not have enough funds to run them efficiently, he added.

He said the mandate provided by NHM was Rs 1.55 lakh per MMU unit. However, the amount was not enough to set up the unit, so they have proposed setting up 34 MMUs with a unit cost of Rs 3.34 lakh in the upcoming year. Besides Karnataka, Bihar, Telangana, Madhya Pradesh and Goa too have zero MMUs running under NRHM, the NHM quarterly report stated.

Kripa Bhat, coordinator, Concerned for Working Children (CWC), an NGO, explained that the government comes up with several similar schemes but many of them lack implementation. The quality of services available at Public Health Centres (PHCs) in several panchayat and taluk levels are not up to the mark, and citizens have to travel long distances to avail of basic services. She said MMUs are a good concept, as quality services are provided on wheels in remote areas. On the newly launched Namma Clinics, she said they will play a role only if they are implemented well.

REGISTER VEHICLES OF PVT SECTOR STAFFERS IN BH SERIES, SAYS HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Friday directed the state government to register new non-transport vehicles of the private sector employees also in the Bharath (BH) series, in terms of the Central Motor Vehicles (20th amendment) Rules 2021 issued on August 26, 2021.

Justice CM Poonacha passed the order while allowing the petitions filed by T Shalini, working in a software firm and others. They have moved the court after their vehicles were denied registration in BH series in view of a transport department circular on December 20, 2021.

The circular instructed authorities to take steps for registration of vehicles in the BH series only in respect of those vehicles owned by the officers of All India Service, Central Government employees holding posts of inter-state transfer and bank officers holding posts of inter-state transfer, in the first phase, in terms of the notification issued by the Union government.

The Union Ministry of Road Transport issued a notification on August 26, 2021 introducing the registration of BH series new non-transport vehicles for the seamless transfer of such vehicles from one state to another. The state government on November 30, 2021 permitted transport authorities to register the new non-transport vehicles under BH series as per the amended Central Motor Vehicles Rules.

Objecting to the petition, the state government contended that most of the private company employees are working on a contract basis and they are frequently hopping companies. So, there is no guarantee of working in the same company permanently to collect taxes frequently when it falls due.

26-year-old techie hangs self at her home

Bengaluru: A 26-year-old software engineer was found hanging from a ceiling fan at her house in Basaweshwaranagar police station limits on Thursday. The victim was working in a tech company near Kengeri. However, the cause of suicide is yet to be ascertained. There were reportedly no issues between victim and her husband. A case of unnatural death has been filed. The victim Swathi, was a resident of Vrushabavathi Nagar. "The victim was said to be depressed. The victim's parents have not made any allegations against their son-in-law," said an officer.

Man duped of ₹2.38L over engg seat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A complaint was filed against a woman for allegedly duping a 40-year-old businessman of ₹2.38 lakh by falsely assuring him of an engineering seat for his daughter at a private engineering college in Bengaluru.

M Krishna, a resident of Hosapalya on the Kanakapura main road, stated that while looking for an engineering college for his daughter, he met the accused at an acquaintance's house. Later Krishna gave her the money in exchange of a letter confirming confirming the seat.

After examining the letter, he found out that it was not in a proper format, and tried to confront her. She claimed that she had met with an accident, and began avoiding him. When the complainant went to the college, he found out that the letter was fake.

The complaint was filed on Wednesday with the Kaggalipura police.

"She gave us a letter signed by the donor trustee and member secretary of the educational trust. Failing to contact her, we went to the college to confirm the seat. A staff clarified that the letter was fake. The signature of the member secretary was also fake," Krishna told TNIE. When he went to the accused's house to collect the money, she had already fled.

"The accused is said to have cheated many others, and there are complaints against her in other police stations. The complainant should have been careful," said an officer. A case has been booked under IPC sections 406 and 420.

No court relief for Duniya Vijay in abduction case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A city court rejected the application filed by actor 'Duniya' Vijay and three others seeking to discharge them from the offences in the 2018 kidnapping case.

Vijay Kumar BR aka 'Duniya' Vijay, Prasad KJ, Mani B and Prasad Kumar R were accused of kidnapping Maruti Gowda from Amdebkar Bhavan in a car, on September 23, 2018. The accused had moved a petition before the eighth ACMM court, seeking to discharge them for the offences under IPC sections 504, 342, 365, 323, 506 and 201.

The application read that Vijay had also filed a counter-case against the complainant and the chargesheet materials do not satisfy the ingredients of IPC sections 365 and 201. The defence counsel submitted that to attract section IPC 365, the chargesheet materials should indicate that a person has been kidnapped with the intent to secretly and wrongfully confine him in an unknown place.

The prosecution alleged that the victim himself called the complainant over phone to inform him about the incident.

The prosecution material indicates that he was brought directly to the police station by the accused. The prosecution contended there are enought material to show the alleged kidnapping and confinement might not be a ground for the discharge of the accused.

Judge KN Shivakumar observed there are sufficient materials to show that the victim was forcibly taken into the car. "Definitely it would amount to a wrongful confinement irrespective of the duration of the confinement," the judge noted.

Associate profs at govt colleges to be promoted

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FACULTY at government colleges now have an opportunity to get promoted, in a first for Karnataka.

The higher education department took the decision to promote associate professors of Government First Grade Colleges to professors. Previously, faculty would retain their positions until retirement. However, a decision was now been taken to promote 274 assistant professors to professors.

"The decision to promote associate professors was based on the decision of the Career Advancement Selection Committee... It will benefit 274 associate professors in the state," Higher Education Minister Ashwath Narayan said.

Interestingly, the UGC had given permission for promotion of associate professors in 2010. However, that was the last time associate professors had an opportunity for promotion. Narayan said the decision to promote associate professors was taken by the government 12 years after UGC's last decision.

Shivakumar trying to hush up Mangaluru blast case, says Bommai

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

Chief minister Basavaraj Bommai and his predecessor BS Yediyurappa along with other ministers during the Janasamparka Yatra in Maddur on Friday | EXPRESS

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai and senior BJP leaders on Friday tore into the opposition Congress after its state president DK Shivakumar accused the government of terming the cooker blast case in Mangaluru as an act of terror to divert attention from the voters' data theft case.

Bommai said Congress leaders talk lightly about terror activities, extend support to terrorists and criticise when terrorists were hanged. AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge and former AICC presidents Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi should clarify whether they are in favour of militants or patriots, the CM said responding to Shivakumar's remarks

Speaking to reporters after attending the Vijay Diwas event in Bengaluru, the CM said it was not the job of patriots to make statements that will affect the morale of the police department and the nation. He said when terrorists are caught along with evidence, questioning the ongoing investigation is like extending moral support to the terrorist organisations.

The pressure cooker exploded when a person was carrying the bomb-making materials in it and it is clear that the accused had planned to carry out the explosion in Mangaluru City, he said and added that the arrested person who had concealed his identity, had been arrested in 2-3 cases. It is also clear that this terrorist had links outside the country, the CM said.

Bommai said it is not correct on the part of Shivakumar to term the Mangaluru blast as an 'accident' and try to hush it up. This is an election tactic by Congress to appease a minority community, but people are now aware and such tricks will not work, he said.

Responding to Shivakumar's remarks on the voters' data theft case, the CM said the order was issued to that company in 2017 by the then Congress Government. The BJP Government has ordered a probe and the police have investigated and arrested a few persons, he said.

Revenue Minister R Ashoka asked Shivakumar to apologize to people for his remarks, while Higher Education Minister Dr CN Ashwanth Narayan termed the Congress leader as a "sultan of terrorists' involved in low-level politics.

On Thursday, Shivakumar stated that the state police chief had tweeted about the case terming it as an act of terror even before the investigation to divert attention from the voters' data theft case.

Clarifying his statement, the Congress leader on Friday said he had not supported or justified the cooker blast case, but the BJP government uses such cases to divert people's attention from the government's failures.

Bommai confident of BJP wave in Mandya

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

MOCKING Congress for daydreaming of coming to power in the 2023 Assembly polls, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said that the wave is in favour of the BJP, and the results will be similar to that of Gujarat.

Speaking at the Janasankalpa Yatra at Pandavapura on Friday, he said that both CLP leader Siddaramaiah and KPCC president DK Shivakumar are appeasing minority to boost their vote bank, and following anti-Hindu policies.

"Siddaramaiah is talking about Tipu Sultan to appease the minority while Shivakumar is trying to justify the cooker bomb blast in Mangaluru. The Congress stand regarding the country and terrorists should be clarified," he said.

Lashing out against Siddaramaiah, he said that other than targeting Prime Minister Narendra Modi, he has no other. "Wherever he goes, Siddaramaiah claims of launching Anna Bhagya but in reality, it was Modi who has designed the scheme, and Siddaramaiah's contribution was Rs 3 gunny bag," he said.

He exuded confidence that the Old Mysuru region is seeing a BJP wave, and the party is growing in strength in the Mandya region. "BJP candidates will win in the upcoming polls from the four constituencies in Mandya," he said.

Taking credit for reopening of PSSK and MySugar factories in Mandya, he said, "Farmers had been protesting, but none of the previous governments resumed it. But we did it, and disbursed Rs 17 crore as first payment. Soon, ethanol plant will start in the mysugar factory," he said.

He said that 16 faulty gates at KRS dam were repaired and all other gates will be repaired, he said, adding that Rs 450 crore has been sanctioned for 184 tanks and lakes in the district.

Former chief minister BS Yediyurappa echoed the CM and said that similar to Gujarat, BJP will also assume power in Karnataka.

Vokkaliga quota hike

Revenue Minister R Ashoka said that the government will do justice to Vokkaligas who are demanding hike in reservation. "To give justice to them, the government is trying to include them under city Vokkaligas, and in meantime, plans have been made to construct the Kempegowda statue in front of Vidhana Soudha," he said.

India imports crude oil from 39 countries: Puri

"WHAT we are looking forward to is more comprehensive and intensified engagement with all countries in the energy sector," Puri said, adding that India was now imports crude oil from 39 countries, up from 29.

"One of our objectives for the G20 presidency is to set up International Biofuels Alliance," he said.

He also mentioned that 1,000 crore litres of ethanol production is required to achieve the blending of 20% ethanol with gasoline. "Last year, we had produced 450 crore litres and now we are spreading throughout the country. We will achieve it soon and gradually increase the percentage," he said.

He said the first edition of the India Energy Week 2023 is being organised during India's G20 presidency, with the tagline 'Growth, Collaboration, Transition' in Bengaluru. "We are expecting 1,000 exhibitors from 50 countries and 30,000 participants. With 19 strategic conference sessions, themes such as energy security, pathways for decarbonisation, resilient energy supply chains, emerging fuels such as biofuel and hydrogen, investments in upstream and midstream sector will be covered," he said.

CM Basavaraj Bommai said the state will be a leader in the production of renewable energy and will be producing ammonia from seawater, using renewable energy. He assured that India Energy Week in Bengaluru will be a success.

Will visit B'gavi after Nagpur session, says Maha minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

MAHARASHTRA Minister Shambhuraj Desai assured Maharashtra Ekikaran Samiti (MES) delegation that he will be visiting Belagavi and meet pro-Maharashtra leaders after the conclusion of the winter sessions of Karnataka in Belagavi, and of Maharashtra in Nagpur.

Chandrakant Patil, another Maharashtra minister, will accompany him, he said. Desai held talks with the MES delegation during his visit to Sinoli village in Maharashtra on the border of Karnataka Friday evening. The MES delegation led by Vikas Kalghatgi met Desai to discuss the border dispute.

He said that the winter sessions of Karnataka and Maharashtra will take place at the same time on December 19, where all Maharashtra ministers will be busy in Nagpur for the session.

Desai said that for the visit, he will officially inform the state government.

There has been some positive changes in the attitude of the Karnataka government after Union Home Minister Amit Shah held a meeting with chief ministers of both the states, he said. A few members of MES urged the minister to establish a helpline for pro-Maharashtrians, who are facing severe problems due to the border dispute.

Before visiting Belagavi, Desai said he and Patil will have a detailed discussion with Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde regarding the border dispute.

46,000 kids of weavers to receive scholarships

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE state government has decided to include children of weavers under the 'Vidyanidhi' scheme, a scholarship programme which covers them till the completion of their graduation. Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said as many as 46,000 children of weavers are identified for the scheme and the amount will be released within 15 days.

The CM was speaking after launching Nekara Sanmana, a Direct Benefit Transfer (DTH) scheme where grants were given to handloom weavers on Friday. Stressing on Vidyanidhi scheme, the CM instructed the officials concerned to submit the list of the 46,000 children of weavers within 15 days and release the amount immediately. "No application will be collected from those children as Vidyanidhi is their right," he said. This is also seen as an attempt by the state government to woo the community ahead of the assembly polls next year.

The Nekara Samman scheme was launched to help weavers who are in financial distress. Under this scheme, a sum of Rs 5,000 will be given to weavers directly by DBT. This amount runs into Rs 2343.20 lakh. Earlier it was Rs 2,000.

He said the weaving profession has created the maximum jobs. It were weavers who actively took part in the freedom struggle. "They worked day and night to make the people wear 'Swadeshi cloth' during the freedom movement. This industry has grown since 1947 and has earned a special status in the nation. Weaving is an artistic profession and this art has been protected, preserved and continued for many generations," he said. Now they have adopted technology that is paving way to creativity, he added.

No Friday release for JDS first list of candidates

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

FORMER chief minister and JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy's birthday celebrations, who turned 64, at Ramanagara on Friday saw leaders thronging the event including ticket aspirants for the 2023 Assembly polls, who are expecting their names will appear on the first list of candidates.

Although there were speculations that he will be releasing the first list of party candidates, but it was deferred.

Sources said that the list of candidates numbering between 96 and 116 abiding by the suggestions of a numerologist, is ready, and will be released soon.

The celebrations sent out a message about the party's hold in the region besides giving rise to a speculation that Ramanagara MLA Anitha Kumaraswamy might be sacrificing the Assembly seat for Nikhil Kumaraswamy. Former Prime Minister HD Deve Gowda, waved at the crowd, after climbing on the dais with help from Nikhil. In the 1994 Assembly polls, Gowda won the Ramanagara seat and become the chief minister.

Kumaraswamy visited Chamundeshwari temple, and prayed along with the supporters. Even the likes of former chief minister BS Yediyurappa and Telangana Chief Minister K Chandrashekar Rao called and wished him, said his close associates.

Almost all JDS leaders except some dissidents including Arakalagudu MLA AT Ramaswamy and Arasikere MLA KM Shivalinge Gowda, who are expected to join the Congress, were present. For the duo, the party has already identified alternative candidates, and is unperturbed by their activities since they have lost their sheen, a JDS leader remarked.

Channamma Deve Gowda also took part in the mega religious event, attended by thousands of people from Ramanagara and Channapatna, represented by Kumaraswamy.

The event came as a big push to the party with four to five months for the polls, and the Pancharatna Yatra already drawing impressive crowds in the Old Mysuru region.

Billavas' padayatra to Bengaluru on January 6

Mangaluru: Sri Pranavananda Swamiji of Brahmashri Narayana Guru Shakthi Peeta on Friday announced a 658-km long padayatra from Mangaluru to Bengaluru from January 6 by Billavas, demanding to meet their various demands including setting up of a Narayana Guru Development Corporation and permission for Billavas to tap toddy across the state. The Swami said that a religious meet will be held before starting the padayatra, where 25 heads of mutts of the backward community will take part, and will cover 20 km per day. Veteran Congress leader Janardhana Poojary will flag off the padayatra. Telangana Minister Srinivas Goud, Deputy Speaker of Telangana Padma Rao Goud, and others will also take part. He also demanded that the Billava community be brought under the ST category after conducting a study.

Murugha Mutt conspiracy case accused in cop custody

Chitradurga: Former president of Chitradurga Zilla Panchayat Soubhagya Basavarajan, an accused in the conspiracy case has been sent to police custody for a day. The court heard the arguments of Ramadas, advocate for Soubhagya, and public prosecutor over the application of remand filed by the police. Basavaprabhu swamy, the acting head of the Murugha Mutt, in a complaint filed with Chitradurga rural police station, alleged that Basavarajan had called the complainant minor girl and her mother to book the second Pocso case against Murugha Mutt seer Shivamurthy Murugha Sharanaru. Former MLA SK Basavarajan, lecturer at the SJM school Basavarajendra and photographer Mayur, who were also accused in the case are behind bars. The police arrested Soubhagya from home in Davanagere on Thursday night. Police sources told TNIE that Soubhagya will be called for questioning on Saturday morning.

Cong needs to hone booth management skills in Karnataka

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

A postmortem of the Gujarat assembly election results reveals a serious flaw in the Congress strategy: poor booth management. While the BJP's booth management was robust and proactive, Congress teams lacked enthusiasm and were negligent.

Premchand Palety, CEO of C-Fore, a multidisciplinary research organisation that carries out psephological studies, who studied the Gujarat elections closely, said, "Congress booth management, compared to BJP, has been poor. This partly affects their Karnataka unit also."

Asked about this, KPCC former president Dr G Parameshwara said that as KPCC president, he had constituted teams in every booth. "My own constituency has 242 booths, and each booth has a team of about 20 people under the booth committee president, who ensure that the booths on the ground are strengthened. During my time, we had started the process of strengthening booth committees," he said.

Now, wherever there are sitting Congress MLAs, booth management is good, but there are more than 50 booths where the Congress has not won in more than three elections, where booth management needs to be rejuvenated. Senior Congress leaders complain that booth management is a serious issue. "The present state leadership of the Congress needs to wake up to the problem of poor booth management in Karnataka too," informed sources said.

KPCC working president Saleem Ahmed said, "We are in the process of strengthening our booth committees and adding more members across the state."

Former Congress general secretary in-charge of Gujarat and Opposition leader in the Council B K Hariprasad, who was in Gujarat during the recent elections, said, "There is no comparison between the two states, but yes, Congress has to strengthen booth management in some places in Karnataka."

By contrast, the BJP's booth management is very different. "We have Pancharatna teams which means there is one SC, one ST, one OBC, one woman and a general representative. In addition, we have a page pramukh team and booth committee teams. In many booths, we have 40-50 persons per team. Above these teams we have Shakti Kendra teams and over them we have Mahashakti Kendra teams," BJP General Secretary Ravi Kumar said. Clearly, despite the resounding win in Gujarat, the party is leaving nothing to chance in Karnataka.

Grievance redressal portal 'success' is a scam, say activists

NAMRATA SINDWANI
@ Bengaluru

CITIZENS have questioned the grievance redressal system in force in Karnataka, despite over 98 per cent of complaints being disposed of positively. They complained that grievances were disposed of without being properly addressed, or delays due to bureaucracy in government departments.

The Janaspandana-iPGRS (integrated Public Grievance Redressal System) was launched in November 2021 and received 57,865 grievances until December 16, 2022. In all, 43,805 complaints (98.1 per cent) were disposed of positively. The iPGRS portal also showed that 13,614 grievances remained pending for redressal.

Statistics showed that the Urban Development (20.2%), Revenue (19.2%) and Rural and Panchayati Raj (13.4%) departments received maximum grievances related to pension schemes, land issues, acid attack victim pensions, services under various government schemes and even administrative issues.

A complainant from Bengaluru, Mohan K, has been fighting for a land registration case since 2017. He filed several complaints in the past two years but no action has been taken so far. He said that several times, officers tried putting his complaint in the 'disposed-of' category without the issue being resolved.

He even called it a scam, and said the department did not properly address their complaints. Government officials lacked accountability, and the bureaucracy would cause complaints to travel from one officer to another, causing pendency, he said.

HM Venkatesh, an activist, called the 98 per cent disposal of grievances a "manipulation of data". He said that often, complaints were thrown from one desk to another, which cause delays. Often, complaints remain unattended for a long time.

An official from the RDPR said the high number of taluks under the department were the reason for them to come under the top three. Explaining the pendency of several complaints, the official said it depended on the nature and complexity of the complaint. If several departments were involved, it would take longer to consult all parties and dispose of them accordingly.

Kerala Cong rejig test for Sudhakaran

Party factions may stop him from freely, fairly discharging his duties, say sources

ARUN M @ Kochi

HIS continuation as the state Congress president all but confirmed, the biggest challenge that K Sudhakaran faces is revamping the KPCC and district Congress committees, while sticking to the three-month deadline and overcoming the faction and lobbies at work within the party.

Should the revamp happen, a few KPCC functionaries and DCC chiefs would be removed following a performance review. On his part, Sudhakaran has seemingly began working towards the revamp. In New Delhi for the Parliament session, he has called an online meeting of KPCC office-bearers on Saturday to review the situation ahead of the reorganisation.

Though his focus had been on completing the revamp when he was appointed KPCC chief in 2021, soon after the Congress' defeat in the Assembly elections, his attempts were torpedoed allegedly by the AICC general secretary K C Venugopal-Leader of Opposition V D Satheesan axis. The 'A' and 'I' factions in the Congress led by former chief minister Oommen Chandy and former leader of opposition Ramesh Chennithala, respectively, were dissatisfied with the appointment of KPCC functionaries and DCC presidents.

Sources in the party told TNIE that it is possible these factions may thwart Sudhakaran from carrying out the job freely and fairly this time too. They also recalled that the decision taken at the Chintan Shivir in Kozhikode, to complete the revamp of committees from the booth to the block level by October, was in cold storage too. When contacted, a senior Congress leader ruled out reports of any chances of undermining the reorganisation, but admitted that completing the process within three months is a challenge. "At present, KPCC has to conduct events to spread the message of the ongoing Bharat Jodo Yatra, which has infused a new spirit into the party, across the state. The reorganisation is planned keeping in mind the 2024 Lok Sabha elections. It does not mean a total revamp," said the leader. "Those who have been inactive will be replaced with capable leaders. Every leader is united over completing the KPCC, DCC and mandalam-level revamp to strengthen the organisation," he said.

It is learnt, DCC committees comprising 50 to 100 leaders will be omitted. Congress has already fixed the number of functionaries required at each level.

CBI clean chit to former Madras HC CJ Tahilramani

AMIT MUKHERJEE @ New Delhi

THE Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) has scrutinised the allegations of impropriety, corruption and political bias against former Madras High Court chief justice Vijaya Kamlesh Tahilramani but did not find the commission of any cognizable offence, the Centre told Lok Sabha on Friday. The information was shared by Union Minister of state for Personnel, Public Grievances, Pensions, Jitendra Singh in response to queries from A K P Chinraj of the DMK.

Justice V K Tahilramani

In 2019, the then CJI Ranjan Gogoi had directed the CBI to take action against Justice Tahilramani after an IB report flagged her close ties with a Tamil Nadu minister, illegal acquisition of property in Chennai and her decision to dissolve a special bench dealing with idol theft cases. The Supreme Court collegium subsequently decided to transfer her as the chief justice of the Meghalaya High Court for "better administration of justice". However, Justice Tahilramani resigned.

Chinraj had sought to know whether the CBI has received any direction from the Supreme Court or the Chief Justice of India between July and November 2019 to take action against the former judge. He also wanted to know whether the CBI has registered any FIR.

Singh said, "CBI had received a reference dated 26.09.2019 from Secretary General of Hon'ble Supreme Court of India. CBI, on verification, found that the reference did not disclose commission of a cognizable offence and accordingly, no offence has been registered."

RADIATION ESSENTIAL FOR LIFE, SAYS BARC HEALTH DIRECTOR

BENGALURU: Radiation is essential to life and more awareness should be spread about this, said Dr D K Aswal, Bhabha Atomic Research Centre's (BARC) Director of Health, Safety and Environment. He was speaking at the second National Conference on Radiation Physics organised by Bangalore University's Department of Physics. "All of humanity is living in an ocean of radiation and is continually bombarded by it. Radiation is essential to life on Earth. Precautions need to be taken if radiation exposure is higher than the limitations given by international bodies. But, there is no need to be afraid of it," he said. He added that efforts need to be made to arm people with the knowledge to reduce the amount of disinformation and panic surrounding radiation. Meanwhile, BU Vice-Chancellor Prof S M Jayakara said that radiation is widely used in clinical settings and poses great benefits in the healthcare system. "Students in medical courses need to be well-versed with radiotherapy and the safe and effective utilisation of radiation," he said.

Dasara jumbo Balarama shot at

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

DASARA elephant Balarama (64) was injured after a farmer fired at him with a single-barrel gun on Thursday night. Nagarahole Tiger Reserve foresters arrested the farmer MA Suresh, from Alaluru village in Periyapatna taluk.

Balarama, who was housed in Bheemanakatte camp in Periyapatna taluk, under Hunsur sub-division, had been released into the forest by his caretakers. When the tusker did not return on Friday, the mahout, kavadi and forest staff ventured into the forest in search of him. They found Balarama with bullet wounds on his stomach. They immediately brought him back, and wildlife veterinarians removed the pellets from his body. The tusker responded to the treatment and is out of danger.

Meanwhile, Suresh was produced before court, which sent him to judicial custody till December 31. Foresters said Suresh fired at Balarama, presuming he was a wild elephant, to chase him away. They seized the gun and cartridges from him. Balarama has participated in the Dasara procession from 1996, and carried the golden howdah for 13 years. When he touched the age of 60, Arjuna was given the responsibility, though Balarama is still part of the procession.

POACHGATE COMPLAINANT

ED asks BRS legislator Reddy to appear

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED), Hyderabad Zone, on Friday summoned BRS Tandur MLA Pilot Rohith Reddy to appear before it on December 19, along with statements of his bank accounts, documents relating to his companies, his and his family members' movable and immovable assets.

The ED's action has raised eyebrows as Rohith happens to be the main complainant in the case of the attempt to poach him and three other BRS MLAs in a farmhouse in Moinabad on October 26, allegedly by three emissaries of BJP – Faridabad priest Ramachandra Bharati, pontiff Simhayaji and Hyderabad hotelier Nanda Kumar. The charge against them was that they had offered Rs 100 crore to Rohith and Rs 50 crore each to the remaining four MLAs for joining the BJP.

Reacting to ED summons, Rohith said he would seek a probe by a sitting judge into how BJP State president Bandi Sanjay Kumar could predict that very soon the Enforcement Directorate would issue a notice to him to appear before it in connection with the Bengaluru drugs case.

In a statement here, he asked: "How did Bandi Sanjay know that I will get a notice from the ED? Let him take a vow at the Yadadri temple that he is clean on this count. Let him fix a date. How come the ED has not sent notices to the Adanis and Ambanis? Why is it that BJP general secretary BL Santhosh is not cooperating with the investigation into the BRS MLAs poaching case?"

He alleged that the ED served notices on him because he had exposed BJP's conspiracy to poach BRS MLAs. As he had foiled their attempt, they were trying to take it out on him out of spite, he further alleged.

K'taka makes 11K-12K MT of silk a year

FOR citizens, the weight of the silk used as filling will start from 700 grams as some other materials will also be used. "The reason why silk is being used is because it keeps one more warm when compared to other materials. It needs little or no maintenance and can be washed easily. It is easy to carry, is eco-friendly and also helps in generating employment in rural areas," Jambunath said.

Karnataka produces 11,000-12,000 metric tonnes of silk per annum, of which 20 per cent is waste. The researchers use 10-15 per cent of the waste material from spun silk and hand spun silk to make blankets. "A large quantity of silk from Ramanagara and other parts of the state was being sent to China for the same purpose. At present, silk exported to China is being imported back to India in the form of blankets via Korea and Brazil markets. This is also a developing industry which we want to explore. But as a government body, we cannot venture into commercial operations," explained another official.

Advertisement for the Award of Junior Research Fellowship (JRF)

DRDO Young Scientist Laboratory- Artificial Intelligence (DYSL-AI) is constituted of young scientists who work towards research and development in the field of Artificial Intelligence. DRDO Young Scientist Laboratory-Artificial Intelligence (DYSL-AI) is at the forefront of artificial intelligence research, accelerating adoption of artificial intelligence for varied applications. The lab has associations with various eminent organizations such as IITs, IISc Bangalore, IIIT's and other leading academic institutions.

We are looking for young and meritorious Indian nationals, who desire to pursue AI related research as Junior Research Fellow (JRF) and join the revolution, using deep learning, natural language processing (NLP), computer vision and reinforcement learning to help us improve various research outcomes and drive innovation. At DYSL-AI, you will join a multidisciplinary team helping to shape our AI strategy and showcasing the potential of AI for defense through early-stage solutions. This is an excellent opportunity to take advantage of emerging trends and technologies to make a real difference.

The eligibility criteria and desired qualifications is as under:

SL No	Title of Fellowship	Minimum eligibility Criteria	Desirable Qualification	No of vacancies
1	Junior Research Fellow	Graduate degree in professional course (B.E/B.TECH) in first division with NET/GATE (OR) Post Graduate degree in professional course (M.E/M.TECH) in first division both at Graduate and Post Graduate level (OR) Post graduate degree in Basic Science in first division with NET Qualification	a. Strong fundamentals in problem solving, algorithm design and complexity analysis b. Expert in at least one major programming language (Python, Java, C++ or similar) c. Knowledge of classical AI algorithms, Machine Learning and Deep Learning techniques is strongly desirable. d. Proven experience with software libraries such PyTorch, Tensorflow, Keras, TensorRT ,PyTorchMobile. Either one of the following: i. Comprehensive knowledge of speech and language technology, including speech recognition and natural language understanding NLP/ Machine Translation. (OR) ii. Comprehensive knowledge of 3D Vision and Simultaneous Mapping and Localization (SLAM), ROS. (OR) iii. Comprehensive knowledge of Computer Vision including Generative Models. (OR) iv. Comprehensive knowledge of Reinforcement Learning	03

1. Upper age limit: 28 years as on the date of interview. Age and Educational qualification will be calculated / determined as on date of interview. Age limit is relaxable by 5 years for SC/ST, 3 years for OBC candidates.
2. Emolument: Stipend of Rs.31000/- per month plus HRA as applicable (at present 27%). Hence, total emoluments will be Rs. 39,370/- . Based on the availability, accommodation can be provided, in which case, HRA will be deducted.
3. Tenure: Candidate will work initially for first two years as JRF and will subsequently be elevated as SRF for the remaining two/three years, subject to satisfactory performance to be assessed annually and as per DRDO rules.
4. Candidates working in Govt./Public Sector Undertaking/Autonomous Bodies should apply through proper channel. They are required to submit a signed declaration (Annexure 'II') to the extent that they have informed their Cadre Controlling Authority (CCA) about their application for the fellowship in DRDO and required to produce a "No Objection Certificate" from their CCA as per Annexure 'III' at the time of interview.
5. The Offer of fellowship is purely of temporary in nature for a limited period as per rules in vogue and does not confer any right for absorption in DRDO.
6. Those who were already awarded JRF position in any of the DRDO Laboratories/centers earlier, are not eligible to apply again.
7. Candidate need to attach the proof of CGPA to percentage conversion formula from the University/Institution along with the application form.
8. The Research Fellowship may be terminated at any time during the tenure with a prior notice of one month. Fellows may resign with a prior notice of one month.
9. DYSL-AI, Bangalore reserves the right to amend, modify or cancel this advertisement. The above notified fellowships are likely to be increased or decreased or cancelled depending upon the prevailing requirement restrictions, if any, as per the policy of Government of India.
10. The detailed advertisement with application form and other specimen formats are available in the website www.drdo.gov.in (> What's New > Application for the post of JRF at DYSL-AI, Bangalore).
11. It may please be noted that offer of fellowship does not confer on fellows any right for absorption in DRDO.
12. Application procedure: Eligible candidates may send their duly completed applications as per details below:
i) Duly filled application (Annexure -I) downloadable from www.drdo.gov.in
ii) NoC & other testimonials as applicable in case of serving candidate (Annexure –II & Annexure – III) downloadable from www.drdo.gov.in
iii) CV
iv) Self attested copies of educational certificate
v) Self attested copies of DOB,
vi) Self attested copy of caste certificate (Wherever applicable)

The application completed in all respect as above needs to be sent to "The Director, DRDO Young Scientist Lab-Artificial Intelligence, Dr. Raja Ramanna Complex, Raj Bhavan Circle, High Grounds, Bengaluru-560001" or the scanned copies can be sent by mail to accounts.dysl-ai@gov.in 13. Last Date: The last date for receipt of application at DYSL-AI is 21 days from the date of publication in Employment News or before 31st December 2022 (which ever is later). Applications received after due date for whatsoever reasons, shall not be entertained. Incomplete applications are liable to rejected.

Candidates sending application by post should write in bold letters "Application for JRF recruitment' on TOP of the cover of envelope.
Selection Process:

Eligible candidates will be shortlisted on the basis of GATE score/percentage of marks obtained in the qualifying degree.

Shortlisted candidates are required to appear for online coding examination(tentatively on 19th January), details of the examination will be communicated subsequently on their mail ids.

The qualified candidates will be required to appear for personal interview to be held at DRDO Young Scientist Laboratory- Artificial Intelligence (DYSL-AI) Dr. Raja Ramanna Complex, Raj Bhavan Circle, High Grounds, Bengaluru-560001 or through Video Conferencing as decided by Director, DYSL-AI, date and time will be communicated to the shortlisted candidates separately by speed post/email. The decision of the Director as to whether in person interview of through Video conferencing will be final and binding on the candidates.

The decision of the committee constituted by Director, DYSL-AI in selecting the candidate will be final and binding on all the candidates.

Important Instructions:

Only those candidates who have been awarded Degree/Provisional Degree certificate are eligible to apply.

Candidates should make their own arrangement for their stay and transport in Bangalore.

Candidate need to produce original Certificates/Testimonial for proof of Caste (Where applicable), Age, Educational Qualification and No Objection Certificate (Where applicable), along with two pass port size photographs at the time of interview.

Award of Fellowship shall not be claimed by any candidate as a matter of right. The selection of the candidate will be entirely the discretion of the Selection Committee of the Lab.

The candidate should bring supporting document for CGPA conversion.

The candidate may be allowed to register for part-time Ph.D with any University/Institution during the tenure of the fellowship on approval of DYSL-AI.

No TA/DA will be paid for attending the interview or for joining, if selected.

DYSL-AI, Bangalore is situated at Dr. Raja Ramanna Complex, Raj Bhavan Circle, High Grounds, Bengaluru-560001,

For details contact DYSL-AI between 1000 to 1700 hrs on all working days (Monday to Friday) on 080-2201 7711.

SEPARATION OF POWERS AT THE CORE OF GOVT, JUDICIARY TUSSLE

The Union government has left no doubt over the fact that it wants to roll back the collegium system and take back the power to appoint judges. The Union law minister recently said that cases were piling up because vacancies on the bench are not filling up. He said in the collegium system, the judges recommend only those colleagues they know and not the fittest person. He said the collegium system does not reflect the spirit of the Constitution. The Supreme Court, however, maintains that the collegium system is the law of the land which needs to be followed, and if the government wants another system, it should change the law. However, the SC struck it down as unconstitutional when the government tried to change the law and passed a bill in 2014 to set up a National Judicial Appointments Commission.

Vice-President Jagdeep Dhankhar has termed the SC's rejection as a "glaring instance of severe compromise of parliamentary sovereignty". He said, "The historic NJAC Bill … was undone by the Supreme Court using the judicially evolved doctrine of 'Basic Structure' of the Constitution. There is no parallel… in democratic history of the world." The SC has, however, said that the power to appoint judges should rest with the judiciary to preserve its independence. It says the collegium system ensures the separation of powers.

The nine-judge 1993 judgment that brought the system into existence said that the Constitution framers limited the Executive's power in the matter of appointment of judges to the SC and the high courts. The requirement of prior "consultation" with the superior judiciary is a logical consequence of having an independent judiciary, it said, and added that if the Executive is left to ignore the advice tendered by the Chief Justice of India in the process of consultation, the very purpose and object of consultation with the judiciary is defeated. The nine-judge bench said they did not doubt that the Executive was bound by the advice/recommendation of the Chief Justice of India in the consultation process under Articles 124(2) and 217(1) of the Constitution. The judgment changed the Constitutional provision of "consultation" with the judiciary to "concurrence". The lone dissenting judge of the 1993 judgment objected to adding words to the Constitution by interpretative exercise. By all indications, the government may soon take another legislative shot at bringing something akin to the NJAC.

RATE RAISES GENERATE CONCERNS OVER GROWTH

The year 2022 saw just two aspects dominating the global monetary policy discourse. First, inflation arm-twisted citizens and central banks. Second, policymakers began warring against price rise. Until recently, it was presumed that the monetary mandarins were about to walk that final bridge between rate hikes and a pause and that all will be well. But the latest remarks separately from the US Federal Reserve and an equally hawkish European Central Bank confirm that the battle isn't over. Just last week, the RBI, too, rammed home the point that we need to batten down the hatches until the price rise storm passes. Inflation seems to be cooling down everywhere, which is why policymakers decided against braking harder with 75 bps hikes (50 bps in emerging markets, including India), but the price index remains above targets, which is reason enough for central banks to continue whacking up rates, though at a slower pace. Missing the nuance and anticipating a pivot, markets that were feeling a bit too jolly of late woke up to the rude reality and crashed with a giant thud this week.

Given the headwinds to growth from global demand slowdown, the lagged impact of rate hikes and the geopolitical uncertainties, the overall growth-inflation mix may force market watchers to finger their worry beads through 2023. While the US, the UK and Europe may be in recession next year, China's growth will likely remain lacklustre, implying that global growth will be hit. Inflation, while being elevated, could be a relatively lesser concern than now, with growth concerns taking prominence, raising hopes of rate cuts. But whether the rate cut cycle will be as synchronised as rate hikes needs to be seen.

Back home, we've weathered the pandemic relatively better than developed nations with conservative fiscal and monetary policies and, consequently, benign aftereffects. However, external sector factors will influence India's growth prospects next year under the shadow of a looming global recession amid tighter monetary policy and limited fiscal space. The anticipated 25 bps rate hike next February takes the repo rate to 6.5%, completely reversing the rate-cutting cycle that began in February 2019. Notably, domestic inflation moderating to sub-6% last month offers a crumb of comfort, which means the RBI must assess the underlying growth-inflation dynamics carefully to avoid making the rate hike tool a cure worse than the ailment.

QUICK TAKE

DEATH ROW WAIT INHUMAN

What's the use of a death sentence if it's not executed even after two decades, the Supreme Court has asked in a delayed appeals case. In India, the snail-paced appeals system must have left mentally scarred over 400 death-row convicts languishing in jails for years. The unending wait is a degrading experience that denies them their right to dignity of life. Worse, hardly 5% of death verdicts survive appellate scrutiny. The death sentence should be rendered unlawful where the convicts are not the cause for delay. The process of awarding death penalties dealing with appeals needs a complete review.

In the emphasis on building roads, maintenance and repair are often ignored and left in a limbo

HAVE A HOLISTIC APPROACH TO ROAD BUILDING

BIBEK DEBROY
Chairman, Economic Advisory Council to the PM

SOURAV ROY

Naurangpur is a village in Gurugram district. Loosely, we tend to equate Gurugram with Gurugram district. The two are not the same. Administratively, Gurugram district is divided into nine revenue tehsils (sub-districts). One of these is Manesar, and Naurangpur village is in Manesar tehsil.

In recent times, Naurangpur and adjoining villages have been in the news for issues connected with land acquisition. The village has a population of 2,500 (2011 Census), with 400 houses. It is 16 km from the sub-district headquarters in Manesar and district headquarters in Gurugram. It is therefore at the periphery of rapidly expanding development in Gurugram and Manesar, along NH 48, which explains controversies over process and cost of land acquisition. Who is supposed to take care of development in Naurangpur village? Clearly, the gram panchayat. There are development funds that flow to gram panchayats, meant for drinking water, sanitation, irrigation, health and education infrastructure, and construction of roads and bridges. It is possible such public expenditure was constrained by (1) Covid and its impact; (2) Delays in panchayat elections (held in Haryana in November 2022), mandatorily required for release of funds; and (3) Capacity problems in panchayats. But, with additional funds that enter through the Union Finance Commission, resources should not be a constraint.

Meanwhile, since 2017, the Gurugram Metropolitan Development Authority (GMDA) has been responsible for development works in the municipal areas of Gurugram, Sohna, Pataudi, Farukhnagar and Haileymandi. In principle, the Haryana government can also declare that part of the geographical area of a panchayat should come under the purview of GMDA. I am not certain, but I do not think this has been done for Naurangpur village. In other words, public expenditure in the village is the responsibility of the gram panchayat, not GMDA.

That being the case, recently, residents of Naurangpur village featured in the news for a peculiar reason. A private contractor and a GMDA team were constructing a road in Sector 78-79 of Gurugram, hardly 2 km from Naurangpur village. Thirty residents from the village turned up, wielding guns and sticks. They seized construction material and machines and, abducting the construction team, forced them to build a 50-metre road on the stretch from Naurangpur to Tauru. The police complaint mentions Hoshiar Singh, a resident of Naurangpur village and a former chairman of Gurugram Block Samiti, as the leader. In a separate incident, this is the gentleman who beat up a toll attendant and vandalised the booth when the attendant dared to ask Singh to pay a toll fee since there was insufficient balance on the FASTag. Allegedly, Hoshiar Singh owns a petrol pump on the Naurangpur-Tauru road, and the 50-metre stretch of road, which was built or rebuilt, was right in front of his pump. One can absolve Naurangpur gram panchayat of the responsibility, because though residents were from the village and individually and collectively responsible for taking the law into their own hands, the Naurangpur-Tauru road is not part of the gram panchayat's responsibility. It's a district road. Beyond the inevitable smile such an incident brings to our faces, there are development issues. Anyone who travels or tracks road development in India will vouch for enormous improvement. There are roads and roads.

Antecedents of the classification, which continues, go back to Indian Roads Congress (1937) and Nagpur Plan (1943). Thus, there are expressways, national highways, state highways, major district roads (such as Naurangpur-Tauru) and village roads. Accordingly, construction and maintenance have been divided into silos. Striking developments are for expressways and national highways, including state highways converted into national highways. Middling developments are for village roads, facilitated through the Union government's Pradhan Mantri Gram Sadak Yojana (PMGSY). State highways tend to be just above middling. District roads are the worst, though they are links between highways and the rest. Perhaps silos are inevitable when deciding levels at which decisions must be taken—Union government, state governments, municipal bodies, panchayats. But in the process, there is no holistic view of how road development should occur within an entire district. At one point, there used to be talk about district-level development plans, but that concept has fallen into disuse. Similarly, a silo has been drawn between constructing roads and maintaining them. In the emphasis on building roads, maintenance and repair are often ignored. Tenders are floated for construction, with maintenance left in a limbo.

The Naurangpur-Tauru road isn't a new road. Indeed, there used to be a Mughal-era road that passed through the same area. I have read about a famous sarai in the vicinity. Thus, the issue was about repairing the road, not building a new road. When repairs were undertaken by PWD, a 50-metre stretch was left out, or not repaired properly. I don't know why. A few years ago, near the famous Neemrana fort, I saw a stretch of beautifully metalled rural road, built under PMGSY, followed by a dirt track. When I asked why, I was told the money had run out. A much more likely reason is the fact that this 50-metre stretch is near a petrol pump, presumably frequented by trucks with heavy loads. When construction and repairs are undertaken, through contracts given to the lowest bidder, material used tends to be inferior, not amenable to bearing heavy loads. (With no aspersions in the present case, the system of inspection and approval by PWD engineers is also riddled with corruption.)

Apart from criminal acts by a former public servant and some villagers, there is also the silo of rural versus urban. Across the Naurangpur-Tauru road is the urban expansion and agglomeration of Gurugram, with high-rise buildings (now vacant and incomplete because of other reasons), and on the other side is rural land, with acquisition and conversion of agricultural land issues. This silo is also one that needs to be broken down. Agriculture, as conventionally practiced, is no longer viable, and the label of agricultural land is largely fiction, at least in areas like these. This, too, should be part of a district mapping cum planning exercise. In its absence, arbitrariness becomes the norm, and a private contractor, engaged to build a road elsewhere, is abducted.

LIFE AND LIBERTY IN THE BHIMA KOREGAON CASE

PRATIK KANJILAL
Editor of The India Cable

SPEAKEASY

Once, twice, three times—twice too often to attribute to chance—a digital security consultancy has found that NetWire malware was used to drop incriminating files on the computers of detenus in the Bhima Koregaon case. It is obviously no case because hearings have not even begun, though the first suspects were arrested in June 2018 for a nebulous conspiracy to assassinate the prime minister, who had earlier expressed nebulous anxieties about his person.

NetWire was first detected on images of the computers of Rona Wilson and Surendra Gadling by Arsenal Consulting in the US. This week, it revealed that 44 files were also dropped in a hidden directory of the Jesuit priest Father Stan Swamy's laptop, including 'Inheritors of Naxalbari.docx' and 'Persecuted Prisoners Solidarity Committee.docx'.

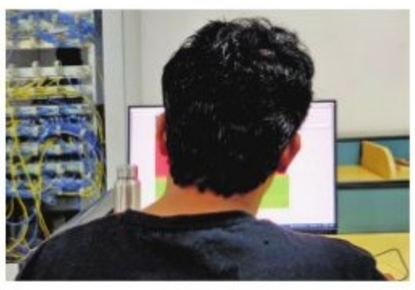
Swamy had helped tribal youth arbitrarily accused of far-left activities. Eventually, with a little help from an anonymous NetWire-slinger, he was arrested on that very charge. Afflicted with Parkinson's disease, he died of neglect in custody. Infamously, under jail rules, he was denied a sipper, without which he could not drink water. The human factor makes Arsenal's findings about his laptop the most damaging so far. But damaging to whom?

Swamy's machine was compromised from 2014, the longest period that an accused has been targeted in Arsenal's experience, suggesting institutional hacking. The day before Swamy's arrest, the attacker began to erase traces of his activity. After making himself home in his computer for over four years, the sudden shredding of files suggests that he knew the machine was about to be seized. Who told him?

Swamy certainly didn't know, and in his ignorance, he compromised the operation. The attacker could not issue the final command to NetWire to erase itself from the computer because Swamy shut down Windows on the last night that he was a free man. We know so much now because of that random event. With a little diligence in India, we may even learn the hacker's identity.

Arsenal did not just plough through gigabytes of hexadecimal in search of NetWire's spoor (console cowboys long in the tooth would remember PC Tools, which ran from the command line; Arsenal's output looks exactly like that, but in a GUI). But from prior experience with the malware, it knew exactly where to look in Swamy's disk for traces of malware activity.

NetWire is a social engineering workhorse which appeared in the wild a decade ago. Its incidence spiked during Covid-19, when hackers used it to prey on desperate, frightened and depressed people, offering fake life-and-death solutions. It is ideal for targeting online activist groups where, typically, a bad actor gains admission to a trusted space and sends a communication with an attachment containing the malware, which could be a PDF or Word document with a malicious macro. The point to note is that the attacker does not know who will click on it. He is not shooting for a specific person, as in spear-phishing. He only wants someone, anyone in the group, to fall for him.



> Father Stan Swamy's machine was compromised from 2014, the longest period that an accused has been targeted in Arsenal's experience, suggesting institutional hacking

That may explain a puzzling feature of the Bhima Koregaon accused: there's very little in common between them, apart from their broad politics. They have led diverse lives. What's common between the revolutionary poet Varavara Rao and the student of caste Anand Teltumbde, who are now out on bail, except for their opposition to Hindutva? Teltumbde, who was accused of being the convener of the Elgaar Parishad event, was not even in town during the event. No conspiracy can be established, so the case—technically the most important in India since a PM's life was allegedly at stake—has not been taken to trial.

However, the accused do have something more in common—they are very likely to have been on the same discussion groups and exposed to the same malware, which planted incriminating files on the disks of those who incautiously clicked on poisoned attachments. Administrators of groups to which the Bhima Koregaon accused belonged should examine their membership lists and recheck credentials very carefully. Is there someone who joined up in 2014, when the Swamy hack began, and went inactive or pulled out at the time of the arrests? Arsenal has raised technical alerts, but human intelligence in India may zero in on a person because one must not underestimate the governmental apparatus' talent for stupidity, or its assets' capacity for humanity, either. Someone, somewhere, maybe dying to seek absolution for killing a priest slowly.

The Bhima Koregaon case is not important because the life of a prime minister was threatened. He made absurd claims of being lethally threatened after demonetisation—an economic intervention which was actually a political jolly rogering adventure to erase the Opposition in UP—and, puzzlingly, when he was approached by his party workers waving a party flag while stuck in traffic on a Punjab flyover. Such claims need not be taken seriously.

The Bhima Koregaon case is important because it is a live demo of the ability of the State to deny liberty and even life by the valid execution of due process, with the active aid of hackers and the passive aid of a Supreme Court which has conveniently forgotten that it has the power to intervene suo motu on matters concerning life and liberty, the most fundamental rights. It is an indictment of both the party in power and the courts. The law may take its course, but it must not take its time. Certainly not to the extent that a detained person's allotted time on Earth runs out, as it did in Swamy's case.

North-South bond

Apropos of Kashi Tamil Sangamam: Modi's cultural tour de force (Dec 16). This is a unique endeavour by PM Modi to revive the traditional ties between Kashi and Tamil Nadu and revive the historical proximity. It is an ambitious project aimed at rediscovering the centuries-old bond between the North and South.

SC on corrupt babus

Apropos of Can convict corrupt babus via circumstantial proof: SC (Dec 16). This 'long overdue' verdict is a landmark one and will ensure corrupt public workers are prosecuted. I hope this equally applies to the political class. Anti-corruption laws should be amended by the government if need be.

Bihar hooch tragedy

Nitish Kumar's remark that drinkers who consume spurious liquor will perish is insensitive. Kumar had the responsibility to avert hooch tragedies. Passing the buck is highly deplorable. The guilty should be booked and the victims should be compensated. Turning away from the casualty is tantamount to admitting to official apathy.

Sabarimala and its challenges

Apropos of Sabarimala crowd mess exposes lack of preparedness (Dec 16). The question before the Travancore Devaswom Board is why the sanctioned amount of ₹100 cr has not been used for infrastructure development and the alloted 250 acres has not been used to develop the base camp as a transit station. The government and the board should do the necessary by following the Tirupathi-model. The lack of proper amenities poses challenges to the pilgrims.

Vacancies and legal eagles

Apropos of Government for system change to fill up judicial vacancy (Dec 16). Reforms are the need of the hour in a democracy, and the judiciary is no exception to it. Legal eagles like Kapil Sibal, Salman Khurshid, Manish Tewari, etc. are free to criticise. Unfortunately, their ire is aimed at the law minister instead of offering constructive suggestions to put a hassle-free system in place.

Tawang locals ready to help Army

Say China should maintain peace on the border but they are not afraid of them

A view of Tawang sector of the LAC in Arunachal Pradesh | EXPRESS

JAMBEY Tsering is virtually glued to his mobile phone these days, for he does not want to miss any updates on the December 9 clashes between Indian and Chinese soldiers at Yangtse in the Tawang sector of the LAC in Arunachal Pradesh. "We have seen in a video what happened between the two sides. The Indian Army is giving their everything to protect our motherland," Tsering, a young businessman from Tawang, told this newspaper.

His reference was to an old video that went viral on social media after the incident of border clashes. A sense of patriotism has gripped the locals. They are ready to go to the border and help the Indian soldiers, if required.

"NGOs and people, including the youth, are saying they will go to the border and help the Indian Army if they have any problem. A students' organisation has released a video saying it is ready to help the Indian soldiers," Tsering said.

Sewang Dorjee is neither tense nor afraid after the border skirmish.

"I don't have any tension. The Indian Army is there on the border to protect us," Dorjee said. His Geling village in the Upper Siang district of central Arunachal is less than 5 km from the China border.

"People are discussing it but they are not afraid. They have full confidence in the Indian soldiers. If required, we will go and fight alongside them. This is our land. We have to protect it," Dorjee said.

Opang Taron, who hails from Nido village located around 30 km from the border, said China hatched a "conspiracy" against India.

"China should maintain peace on the border but we are not afraid of them. If the PLA (People's Liberation Army) creates a problem, we must not leave everything to the Indian soldiers but do something to protect our country," Taron insisted.

His 17-year-old son Miram was brutally beaten up by the PLA before being released nine days later in January this year. The teenager had gone to a forest on the border in search of medicinal herbs but was picked up by the PLA.

MHA team in Naga to study statehood

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Guwahati

WITH tribal organisations in eastern Nagaland sticking to their guns on the statehood demand, the home ministry sent a three-member team to Nagaland on Friday to study the demand.

The team held a meeting with tribal leaders in Tuensang. Several other meetings with various organisations are scheduled on Saturday.

The senior officials will brief the Centre on the issue after returning to New Delhi.

During a recent meeting with the leaders of Eastern Nagaland People's Organisation (ENPO), Union Home Minister Amit Shah had promised to visit Nagaland in January and talk to them to understand the demand.

The ENPO is spearheading a "people's movement" for the creation of the envisaged "Frontier Nagaland" state by carving out the six eastern Nagaland districts of Kiphire, Longleng, Mon, Tuensang, Shamator and Noklak.

No SC bench to hold hearing from Dec 17 to Jan 1, says CJI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

CHIEF Justice of India D Y Chandrachud on Friday said no Supreme Court bench will be available from December 17 till January 1 during the ensuing winter vacations.

The CJI's announcement made in the apex court assumes significance in the wake of Union Law Minister Kiren Rijiju's statement in Rajya Sabha on Thursday in which he said there was a feeling among the people that long court vacations were not very convenient for justice seekers. "There will be no benches available from tomorrow till January 1," Justice Chandrachud informed the lawyers present in the courtroom at the outset.

Friday was the last working day of the top court before it goes on a two-week winter break. The apex court will reopen on January 2.

The issue regarding court vacations has been raised earlier also but judges, including former CJI N V Ramana, had said there is a misconception that judges stay in ultimate comfort and enjoy their holidays.

Delivering the inaugural Justice SB Sinha Memorial Lecture on 'Life of a Judge' in Ranchi in July, the then CJI Ramana had said judges spend sleepless nights rethinking their decisions. "There exists a misconception in the minds of the people that judges stay in ultimate comfort, work only from 10 am to 4 pm and enjoy their holidays. Such a narrative is untrue... when false narratives are created about the supposed easy life led by judges, it is difficult to swallow," he had said.

Justice Ramana had said the responsibility of judging is extremely burdensome owing to the human implication of the rulings. "We continue to work even during weekends and court holidays to do research and author pending judgments. In this process, we miss out on many joys of our lives," he had said. Similarly, a former judge of the Delhi High Court, Justice Jayant Nath, had in November last year said that the public perception of courts going on vacations like schools was not correct and an appropriate machinery must be engaged to project their hard work for an "image change".

"It is a known fact that courts are overburdened with long pending cases. Unfortunately, the perception of a common man is to blame the court for delay in disposal of cases. Much is said about the courts going on vacations, comparing it with school vacations. I can say with full conviction that this public image is not correct," Justice Nath had said while speaking at his farewell reference organised by the high court on November 9 last year.

Rijiju informed Parliament on Thursday that as on December 9, against the sanctioned strength of 1,108 judges, 777 were working in the 25 high courts, leaving a vacancy of 331 (30 per cent).

Much is said about the courts going on vacations, comparing it with school vacations. I can say with full conviction that this public image is not correct

No ransom demanded, most AIIMS data restored: Govt

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

MORE than a fortnight after the All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) cyber attack, the government on Friday said that no specific amount of ransom was demanded by the hackers and approximately 1.3 Terabytes of data was encrypted in the attack.

The analysis was conducted by the Indian Computer Emergency Response Team (CERT-In) found that five servers of All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) were affected and approximately 1.3 Terabytes of data was encrypted in the recent cyber attack, said Minister of Electronics and Information Technology Rajeev Chandrasekhar in a written reply to CPI (M) Rajya Sabha MP John Brittas.

As per preliminary analysis servers were compromised in the information technology network of AIIMS by unknown threat actors due to improper network segmentation, which caused operational disruption due to non-functionality of critical applications, he said. .

While responding to another question in the Lok Sabha on AIIMS cyber attack, Minister of State for Health Bharati Pravin informed the House that all the data has been retrieved from an unaffected backup server with most of its services also being restored. Pawar said that no specific amount of ransom was demanded by the hackers.

Taking exception to the scrapping of the Maulana Azad National Fellowship (MANF) scheme, Congress termed it as an anti-minority move by the Modi government and said the decision will make higher education inaccessible to underprivileged students belonging to the minority communities. The Maulana Azad National Fellowship scheme for minority students pursuing higher education has been scrapped while the government's pre-matric scholarship for them will no longer apply to students from Class 1 to Class 8. Significantly, on Thursday, BJP MP Pritam Munde demanded that the Centre should roll back its decision of scrapping certain scholarships for minority communities.

BRING BACK NJAC BILL WITH CHANGES: RJD MP

RJD MP in Rajya Sabha Manoj Kumar Jha strongly advocated for bringing the Judicial Appointments Commission (NJAC) Bill after making some changes. Jha, speaking at the RS, said that the NJAC needs to make in line with the Constitution to ensure participation of all sections of society in judicial appointments. He, questioning the government that had brought the Bill in 2014, said that the Bill had no provision for reservation for Schedule Castes, Schedule tribes and Backward Classes in the NJAC. He also stressed for the need in changes in the collegium system. There is a tussle between the central government and the judiciary since 2014 regarding the collegium system.

New rules stipulated for vehicles registration under Bharat series

PARVEZ SULTAN @New Delhi

IN an endeavour to further improve and widen the scope of Bharat (BH) series registration mark implementation, the ministry of Road Transport and Highways (MoRTH) has notified new rules to facilitate transfer of vehicles with BH series registration to other eligible persons. Under the amended rules, conversion of the regular vehicle registration number to BH series to facilitate persons who become eligible for BH series has also been permitted.

A draft notification to seek objections and suggestions from the people was issued in October and after considering the feedback, the Government on Wednesday issued final notification.

'BH series in any city of choice'

Besides transfer of vehicles with BH series registration mark to another eligible user, any applicant will now have an option to submit a request for BH series in any city of his choice

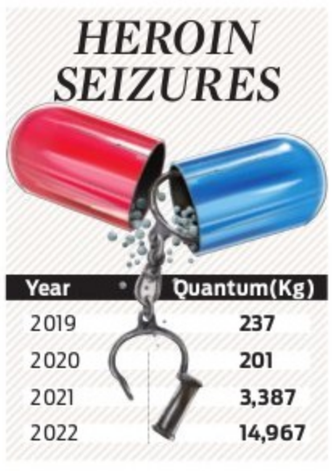
The ministry had received several representations pertaining to the BH series rules for strengthening the ecosystem for the new vehicle registration arrangement, which was launched in August 2021. Hence, the ministry has proposed amends in the rules, said the ministry officials.

Besides transfer of vehicles with BH series registration mark to another eligible user and conversion of regular registration number to BH series, any applicant will now have an option to submit a request for BH series in any city of his choice; where residence or work place is located.

In addition to their official identity card, the government employees can now obtain BH series registration marks on the basis of their Service Certificate also. According to the ministry, 49,696 vehicles have been registered under the BH series scheme in 25 states and UTs till December 5. BH series was introduced to facilitate seamless transfer of vehicles and do away with hassle, the owners experience during re-registration of vehicles when they shift to another state. The facility is available to defense personnel, government employees, and staff of public sector undertakings or private sector companies having their offices in four or more states or union territories (UTs).

With bumper harvest of Afghan opium, heroin smuggling peaks

AMIT MUKHERJEE @New Delhi



BASED on specific intelligence that an air cargo consignment declared to contain 330 trolley bags, imported from Entebbe, Uganda, at Delhi Air Cargo Complex, IGI Airport, New Delhi, would have narcotic drugs concealed therein, the DRI sleuths examined the said consignment on May 9 and 10, 2022. On examination, 54.07 kg of off-white powder, ingeniously concealed inside the hollow metal tubes of 126 trolley bags, was detected. On random testing of the off-white powder on Field Drug Testing Kit, it tested for Heroin.

A swift follow-up operation in Punjab and Haryana led to further recovery of 6.72 kg of heroin. In total, 60.79 kg of heroin valued at ₹425.54 crore and ₹48,17,300/in cash were seized under the NDPS Act, 1985. The importer and two other concerned persons were arrested.

This is not an isolated case. Amidst drug manufacturing pockets like Afghanistan reaping bumper opium harvest in last four years, India along with other countries in the world is witnessing an all-time high of heroin smuggling.

According to sources in the DRI, there has been a steep rise in smuggling of the heroin and opium derivatives over the last few years. The seizure of banned drug heroin has increased exponentially over the last four years, specially after the world unlocked after COVID-19. According to the available data while the seizure amount stood at 237 kg in 2019, in 2022, 14,967 kg of heroin has already been seized till September 2022. The production of Opium, from which heroin is derived, grew seven per cent worldwide between 2020 and 2021 to 7,930 tons – predominantly due to an increase in production in Afghanistan according to UN Office of Drugs and Crime. As a result of which the illegal trade of psychotropic substance from these pockets started getting pushed worldwide and especially into India from Afghanistan.

After the world opened up post the lockdown, there was tremendous spike in the seizures.

Tamil folk artistes enthral Kashi enthusiasts

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

AS the drum beats reverberated in the tranquil Banaras Hindu University (BHU) campus, electrifying the surging crowd, Lingesh, 14, thanked his stars for the first such outing of his life. One of the two youngest members of the 700-odd folk artistes who performed at the Kashi Tamil Sangamam (KTS) was thrilled to be on the grand stage as the ninth-standard student had not travelled outside Tamil Nadu to this day.

"I am so happy that I was lucky enough to come and perform here. It was thrilling to see the crowd's response," Lingesh, who till now had shown his 'Udal Thalam' (a two-faced drum) skills only in the temples back home. Together with Veerteshwaran, his same-age companion, they are among the youngest artists from Tamil Nadu to perform at the sprawling amphitheatre ground at BHU, which hosted the month-long KTS, which concluded Friday.

Kosai Nagarajan, Lingesh's guru who has dedicated his life to preserving the traditional musical instruments of Tamil Nadu, is equally thrilled. He has been to the spiritual city thrice but never performed. He trains students in several Chennai schools and runs a museum in Koyambedu showcasing ancient Tamil instruments.

Group of Tamil artists who perfomred at the festival

"We not only got this wonderful chance to perform before an enthusiastic audience but got a golden opportunity to see this revered city. The warm hospitality and reception we got were heart-touching," said Nagarajan, who performs mainly at religious functions in the temples in and around Chennai. This time, he alongwith his 15-member group performed to a packed crowd.

"All the artists who came here from different parts of Tamil Nadu felt that feeling of oneness. The feeling that we are all Indians, despite having different languages, cultures, traditions, and eating habits. Such mega-events are the best way to bring together people from two states, who are tied together by the common thread of culture, tradition and most especially faith," Nagarajan told this newspaper.

Bharatiya Bhasha Samiti's Chairman Chamu Krishna Shastri, who conceived the mega-event, said the focus was on bringing folk artists from Tamil Nadu.

"We focused on bringing folk artists to KTS. Folk artists rarely get a chance to showcase their art forms. As many as 700 folk artists from various parts of Tamil Nadu performed at KTS daily," Shastri said.

"We always say unity in diversity. But our focus here is on diversity in unity, as it brings minds and hearts together. It also helps in strengthening the ageless bonds of boundary-less people," he added.

CHARRED TO DEATH

A government school teacher was charred to death inside his car which caught fire in Rajasthan's Banswara district on Friday, police said. The deceased has been identified as Manoj Jain, a resident of Bhimpur, the cops said.

Kashi-Tamil Sangamam ends with union of 2 cultures: Shah

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

CALLING the conclusion of month-long Kashi Tamil Sangmam a new beginning of the union of two towering cultures – of Kashi and Tamil Nadu—Union Home Minister Amit Shah said that the efforts in this direction were imperative since independence but it did not happen.

Taking a veiled jibe on the previous dispensations, Shah added that no attempt was made in the past to re-unite the cultural links of different regions of the country. "Under PM Narendra Modi's leadership, the soul of India's cultures is resurrected and it is being reflected in regional reunion through such Sangamams based on the concept of Ek Bharat, Shreshtha Bharat," said Shah. He exuded confidence that the Kashi-Tamil Sangamam would prove to be a successful attempt not only to strengthen the bonds between Kashi and Tamil Nadu but also to re-unite other regional cultures on the same lines. Over two lakh people visited the campus of Banaras Hindu University during the last one month.

BJP intensifies attack on Nitish over hooch tragedy

Seeks govt's dismissal as Bihar CM sticks to no compensation stand

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE BJP on Friday staged a march to Raj Bhawan demanding dismissal of the grand alliance government in Bihar over the deaths of at least 34 people in the recent hooch tragedy in Saran district. Meanwhile, Chief Minister Nitish Kumar made it clear that the government would not extend compensation to the victims' families.

The National Human Rights Commission also took suo motu cognisance of the media reports about the incident, and issued notices to the state chief secretary, Amir Subhani, and DGP, SK Singhal, calling for a detailed report in the matter within four weeks. Meanwhile, the district administration said that 34 people died in the hooch tragedy in the last three days.

Unofficial sources, however, put the death toll at more than 60. The BJP also called it a case of murder for which Nitish should be held responsible, a demand that was corroborated by LJP (Ram Vilas) chief Chirag Paswan. Bihar Assembly too witnessed uproarious scenes over the issue, with the leader of Opposition, Vijay Kumar Sinha, demanding compensation of Rs 10 lakh to the kin of each victim. Nitish, however, said, "We have no sympathy for those who died after consuming spurious liquor. Question of giving compensation to such families does not arise." He added: "We have been appealing to people not to consume liquor as they will die by doing so." BJP legislators then urged Governor Phagu Chauhan to intervene in the matter.

Talking to the media later, Sinha asked the state government to enact a law to provide compensation to family members of those who died after consuming spurious liquor. He said that a team of 30 BJP MLAs had visited the villages where deaths were reported due to the hooch tragedy, and alleged that dead bodies were forcefully cremated as the government wanted to conceal the actual number of fatalities. More than 100 people have died in the incident so far, he claimed.

"Deputy Chief Minister Tejashwi Yadav had called Nitish liquor mafia in 2021 and now he is changing colour like a chameleon," Sinha said. "Formation of an SIT to probe into the tragedy is just an eyewash. A high court judge should conduct the inquiry," he added.

Nitish Kumar plans to go on a feedback yatra

Bihar CM Nitish Kumar will soon embark on a yatra to get feedback from people about grand alliance government's performance and exiting prohibition policy, which came under sharp criticism after the death of over 30 persons. "The date and other related things are being finalised," Principal secretary to CM S. Siddharth said.

After grand victory, murmurs of dissent surface in Guj BJP

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

EVEN as celebrations around its victory in the Assembly election are reverberating in Gujarat, echoes of dissent are being heard in the BJP.

Adding to the internal rift is the voice of former state minister Nanu Vanani, who has written an open letter, raising questions about the style of functioning within the party. "There is no one in Gujarat BJP to take care of small workers. I am perturbed about the current situation," he told this newspaper. Vanani has said in the letter, "I did not see BJP workers' enthusiasm in 2022 elections that I have seen in the past in the way they brought voters to the polling station."

> There is no one in Gujarat BJP to take care of small workers. I am perturbed about the current situation. I did not see BJP workers' enthusiasm in 2022 elections.
> Nanu Vanani, former state minister

Vanani also expressed concern over the lower voter turnout this time, as well as the BJP's functioning. "The party needs to review its style of functioning. A lot of reporting on paper is going on in the party, but the ground reality is far different from these reports. Some individuals have become too powerful, and the party surrendering to their might is not a good sign, as it demoralises workers," he said. "The approach to import readymade leaders from other parties is sending wrong signals to the cadre," he added.

Other BJP leaders have raised similar questions. Kirtisinh Vaghela, who lost in Kankrej, said he failed because local leaders worked against the party. Addressing a gathering, Vaghela said, "Party members who cannot even win in panchayat polls were demanding tickets. They worked against the party and harmed us." Mansinh Parmar, who lost from Somnath, also said, "Some turned out to be traitors, and the party will not forgive them." Local leaders and municipality were also blamed by Rajul Desai, who lost from Patan.

BJP woos Malaiya's son as Cong makes inroad

Entire state BJP top brass was present at the grand event to mark the 75th birthday celebrations of party veteran and ex-finance minister Jayant Malaiya in Damoh district, recently. Amid speculations about Malaiya's son Siddharth (who had quit BJP earlier)being wooed by the Congress, the entire top brass of the saffron party showered praise on the Malaiya family. Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan won loudest cheers from the crowd when he praised Jayant, "Damoh was incomplete without Jayant Malaiya and this event in no way symbolises the BJP veteran's political retirement."

MP to roll out focused youth policy next year

MP will come out with its new youth policy on January 13 next year. The policy will be primarily based on suggestions from the youth on varied segments. A group of ministers including sports-youth welfare, medical education, besides higher education and school education ministers has been constituted for the policy framework. The government has also announced a complete process of filling up one lakh vacancies in different government departments through direct recruitment by August 15. The twin initiatives are majorly aimed to target the youth vote in next Assembly polls slated by end of next year.

IAS officer backs MP min against Pathaan

MP Home Minister Narottam Mishra has an unexpected backer in his tirade against Shah Rukh Khan-Deepika Padukone starrer Pathaan film. IAS officer Niyaz Khan has come out in open support of Mishra's opposition to the film. A pathan himself, Khan, tweeted, "We Indians have great culture where such western nakedness can't be allowed. It's not only against Hindu brothers, but also against Islam. The word Pathan is very sacred and emphasises on clothes Pathan is always very sensitive about dress. In the Pathaan movie song, there is no glimpse of niqab or burqa which is an inherent part of Pathan dress code. In place of it, there are colourful bikinis. Sad!"

Punjab RPG attack: 2 minors among 6 held, took cues from YouTube

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE Punjab Police on Friday arrested six persons, including two juveniles, for allegedly firing a rocket-propelled grenade (RPG) on a police station in Tarn Taran on December 9. As per the police, the accused learnt how to operate the RPG from YouTube videos and were given instructions on video call by a foreign handler.

The perpetrators used a Soviet-era-made single-use 70 mm calibre RPG-26, favoured by Mujahideen in Afghanistan, which was sourced from across the border, the police said.

According to DGP Gaurav Yadav, the attack was masterminded by Canada-based gangster Lakhbir Singh Landa and his two Europe based members, Satbir Singh Satta and Gurdev Singh Jassal, with the help of Ajmeet Singh, who is currently lodged at Punjab's Goindwal Sahib Jail, in coordination with Pakistan's ISI.

Four of the arrested have been identified as Gurpreet Singh alias Gopi Numberdar (18), Gurlal Singh alias Gahla (19); Surlalpal Singh alias Gurlal alias Lali (21) and Jobanpreet Singh alias Joban (18). The police teams have also recovered three pistols along with ammunition, one hand grenade P-86 and one motorcycle used in the crime. The RPG used in the attack was recovered on December 10.

Yadav said Gopi initially received funding of Rs 8.5 lakh and one pistol along with 200 live cartridges from Landa and Satta.

On December 1, Gopi and others retrieved another consignment containing the RPG from village Jhander and dumped it at a spot near Marhana village in Tarn Taran.

Cops: Mastermind a Canada-based gangster

According to DGP Gaurav Yadav, the attack was masterminded by Canada-based gangster Lakhbir Singh Landa and his two Europe based members, Satbir Singh Satta and Gurdev Singh Jassal, with the help of Ajmeet Singh, who is currently lodged at Punjab's Goindwal Sahib Jail, in coordination with Pakistan's ISI.

Court declares Chinmayanand absconder in '11 rape case

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate (ACJM)-3 of Shahjahanpur MP/MLA court Asma Sultana has declared former Union Minister Swami Chinmayanand an absconder in connection with an 11-year-old rape case of one of his disciples in which he is the main accused.

Acting under Section 82 of Criminal Procedure Code, ACJM-3 Asma Sultana issued directives to Shahjahanpur police, to paste notices declaring Chinmayanand an absconder ,at all public places across the city as he failed to surrender in court despite a Non-Bailable Warrant (NBW) issued against him. The court posted the matter for hearing on January 16.

Chinmayanand's lawyer submitted an application saying that being old and weak and having medical conditions, Chinmayanand had been unable to appear in the court in person. Consequently, in the light of all these details, the MP/MLA court passed an order under Section 82 of CPC declaring the accused as an absconder.

Protests in J&K after 2 killed near Army camp

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

MASSIVE protests broke out in the border district of Rajouri in Jammu and Kashmir on Friday morning after two locals were found dead and another critically injured outside an Army camp in the area.

The locals held a day-long protest near the Army camp to demand a probe into the incident and compensation of Rs 50 lakh to the victim's families.

Meanwhile, the Army has blamed militants for the killings while police have registered an FIR and assured of a fair probe. Residents of Phayalana village of Rajouri said the bullet-ridden bodies of two local youth Kamal Kumar and Shailender Kumar were recovered outside Army camp, which also houses a military hospital. "We heard gunshots and later found the bodies of two youth and another critically injured. The injured was then shifted to Government Medical College," they said.

The two killed, had been working in the Army canteen for over a decade.

The locals staged a protest near the camp and kept the bodies on the road blocking vehicular movement on Poonch-Rajouri highway, burnt tyres and also pelted stones.

Rahul 'connects India' on 100th day of Yatra with Sunidhi show in Jaipur

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

WHEN Congress leader Rahul Gandhi called Sunidhi Chauhan "absolutely excellent" on Friday, he was referring to more than her singing skills. The singer was in Jaipur to perform at an event organised by the Congress to celebrate the completion of 100 days of Bharat Jodo Yatra, during which she briefly shared the stage with Rahul, and spoke about the message of "connect India" being promoted through his march.

"I would like to convey the slogan that is being raised as the message of the Yatra — connect India. So many types of people live here and everyone wants to live with love. This will happen and this should happen," Chauhan, who belongs to Rajasthan, said when asked about the message she would like to give to the youth of the country. Her answer prompted Rahul to remark, "She is absolutely excellent."

Earlier, when Rahul was asked the same question, he replied, "Never be afraid. Don't be afraid of anything, don't hate, just love your people."

Singer Sunidhi Chauhan performs at a concert marking the completion of 100 days of Bharat Jodo Yatra, at Albert Hall Museum in Jaipur on Friday | PTI

The gala celebration, held Albert Hall Museum, also marked the completion of four years of the Ashok Gehlot government.

Besides Rahul and Gehlot, the event was also attended by AICC general secretary K C Venugopal; state Congress incharge Sukhjinder Singh Randhawa; Himachal Pradesh's new Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu and Deputy Chief Minister Mukesh Agnihotri; Himachal Pradesh Congress Committee president Pratibha Virbhadra Singh and the Congress MLAs from Rajasthan. The glittering venue reverberated with Sunidhi's voice, who sang several popular numbers.

Earlier on Friday, Rahul reached Jaipur from Dausa, where he covered 23km on foot. He was welcomed by huge crowds as he passed through Dausa city on Friday. Dausa is the bastion of former Rajasthan deputy chief minister, Sachin Pilot.

JHARKHAND

SSC hiring rules unconstitutional, says high court

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

IN a major blow to the JMM led alliance government in the state, the Jharkhand High Court on Friday scrapped the 2021 recruitment rules of Jharkhand Staff Selection Commission, under which, only the students who have passed 10th and 12th examinations from the state were eligible for recruitment.

A three-judge bench headed by Chief Justice Dr Ravi Ranjan passed the order calling the rules as unconstitutional which failed to establish any intelligible differentia.

The HC was hearing a writ filed separately by Ramesh Hansda, Abhishek Kumar Dubey, Vikas Chaubey, Rashmi Kumari and others challenging the JSSC recruitment rules-2021 with a plea to scrap it as it was unconstitutional.

The petitioners, through the writ, submitted that the rule will debar many deserving candidates to participate in the recruitment examination.

Big B's comments on freedom of speech trigger BJP-TMC fight

PRONAB MANDAL @ Kolkata

LEGENDARY actor Amitabh Bachchan's remark on civil liberties and freedom of expression at the inaugural event of the 28th Kolkata International Film Festival led to a war of words between the BJP and Trinamool Congress on Friday.

Bachchan in his speech on Thursday said, "The 1952 Cinematography Act set out the structure of censorship as it stands today upheld by the film certification board. But even now, ladies and gentlemen, and I am sure my colleagues on stage will agree, questions are being raised on civil liberties and freedom of expression."

Referring to the Big B's comment, BJP's IT cell chief Amit Malviya said the megastar's words were "prophetic" since he was sharing the stage with West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee. "Amitabh Bachchan's words couldn't have been more prophetic since they were spoken in Kolkata, with Mamata Banerjee on the dais. It is like holding a mirror to the tyrant, under whose watch India witnessed the bloodiest post poll violence. She has tarnished the image of Bengal," Malviya tweeted.

BJP's national general secretary also joined the thread and assumed the Bachchan's remark was in solidarity with the victims of the post-poll violence. "He hit the nail on the head with @MamataOfficial on his side. Thank you @SrBachchan for standing for victims of political violence in West Bengal," Santosh tweeted.

In retaliation, TMC MP Mahua Moitra said, "Wish BJP would hire a Troll In Chief with IQ>single digits. Bachchan ji is Bengal's jamai—he knows the soil of his 2nd home is the land of free & home of the brave. He chose KIFF's platform to denounce BJP's boycotts & bans in the arts. Duh…" "The festival has always celebrated the inclusive spirit of cinema beyond the confines of what Gurudev Rabindranath Tagore called narrow domestic walls. I salute you Kolkata for your artistic temperament that embraces the essence of plurality and equality," he said sharing stage with CM Mamata Banerjee and Shah Rukh Khan.

Shah Rukh Khan takes on trolls, says hum zinda hai

Shah Rukh Khan, in his speech, had also sent a veiled message to social media trolls on his upcoming film Pathaan facing boycott calls. "The world has become normal. We are all happy. I am the happiest. I have no objection in stating that duniya kuch bhi kar le, main aur aap log aur jitney bhi positive log hain sab ke sab...zinda hain."

India must focus on manufacturing, says FM

Her statement comes after former RBI Governor Raghuram Rajan criticized PLI scheme to promote manufacturing

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

INDIA should focus on manufacturing, as well as newer areas of services, finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman said on Friday.

Her statement comes after former Reserve Bank of India (RBI) Governor Raghuram Rajan criticized the government's product linked incentive (PLI) scheme to promote manufacturing.

"If there are voices suggesting that India should not focus on manufacturing, but it should focus only on services, I am sorry, no," Sitharaman said at the Federation of Indian Industry and Chambers of Com[1]merce (FICCI).

"We should be focusing on manufacturing services, as also newer areas of services. No doubt the IT driven services have already made a big impact to the extent that 60% of our GDP is being contributed by them. But it is necessary to strengthen our manufacturing and in that Indian startups have shown us the way which is going to be very suitable for our industry. They are doing all the innovation," she said.

Govt should spend money on services sector: Rajan

Criticizing the government's production linked incentive (PLI) scheme, former RBI Govenror Raghuram Rajan recently said rather than spending on manufacturing, the Centre should spend its money on services, which will create more jobs

The minister exhorted the industries to keep a close watch on the innovations, which are coming out of start-ups.

"If you are ready to adopt, commercialise and scale up that innovation, which is coming out of start-ups, I think we will benefit ourselves. The Unicorns coming up with fantastic ideas are all for you to pick up and scale up," she further added.

Criticizing the government's PLI scheme, former Reserve Bank of India (RBI) Governor Rajan has on many occasions said that rather than spending on manufacturing, the Centre should spend its money on services, which will create more jobs.

Recently, in an interview with Rahul Gandhi, Rajan said: "We need to look at the services sector which can create more services than the manufacturing sector....consulting firms earlier used to have a back office here in India but now they are hiring consultants here as if they are working there in the US. For this, to increase hiring, youth need higher education and knowledge."

Meanwhile, the finance minister also said that the upcoming Budget will follow the spirit of previous Budgets with focus on growth.

PHILIPPINES

MARCOS CHEERS 'CHRISTMAS GIFT' OF $95 BN

Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos Jr on Friday signed into law the 2023 budget bill which authorises a record 5.27 trillion pesos ($94.78 billion) spending to support his administration's ambitious economic agenda. Both houses of Congress voted overwhelmingly for the budget bill this month, despite opposition questions over hundreds of millions of pesos of "confidential and intelligence funds" to be overseen by Vice President Sara Duterte, the daughter of the previous president. Next year's budget, the first for the Marcos administration, is equal to 22.2% of the country's total economic output, and is nearly 5% higher than predecessor's Rodrigo Duterte's spending plan for 2022. Marcos is the son and namesake of the late strongman who was famously toppled in a 1986 "people power" uprising after two decades in power. He won a landslide victory in the May election, ensuring his allies control the legislature. He has outlined his six-year policy agenda that aims to expand the economy by as much as 8% during his term, to keep its place among Asia's fastest-growing nations, and halve the poverty rate, which was 18.1% in 2021.

THAILAND

ECONOMY RECOVERING BUT MORE CHALLENGES AHEAD

Thailand's economy continues to recover, but faces more challenges with policy priorities to ensure a continued rebound, the central bank chief said on Friday. Further interest rate hikes would be gradual and measured, but the central bank is ready to adjust the pace, if necessary, Bank of Thailand Governor Sethaput Suthiwartnarueput told a virtual business seminar. Aggressive rate hikes are not suitable as the economy is still in its early stage of recovery and supply-driven inflation is easing, he said. The central bank has forecast the economy will grow 3.2% this year and 3.7% next year, with tourism and private consumption the key drivers. High household debt could disrupt the economy and needed to be brought down to sustainable levels, Sethaput said. The BOT has raised its key interest rate by a total 75 bps since August. The tightening cycle has been less aggressive than many of its regional peers as an economic recovery has lagged that of other Southeast Asian countries, with the crucial tourism sector only starting to pick up this year.

JAPAN

BOJ'S RISING HAWKS EYE END TO UNLOVED YIELD CAP

As Haruhiko Kuroda's decade helming Japan's central bank nears an end, more of his senior colleagues are seeing a case to remove the bank's cap on bond yields, a key but problematic piece of his radical monetary stimulus. The rare hawkish shift inside the Bank of Japan (BOJ) comes after years of heavy money printing failed to fire up anemic consumer demand and amid growing anger about the impact of ultra-low interest rates on bank lending margins and, more recently, the cost of living. Per Reuters, a dozen people familiar with the BOJ's thinking say debate over how to remove a controversial cap on bond yields, introduced in 2016 as part of the bank's yield curve control (YCC) programme, could gather pace next year, provided wages perk up and major economic risks remain contained. While no detailed discussions of a policy change are under way yet, the preference of many within the BOJ is to completely remove the yield cap altogether, the sources said. That would be much bolder than what the market currently thinks the BOJ's next move will be - a widening of the tolerance band around the cap for the 10-year government bond yield.

Sensex, Nifty extend losses on rate hikes by US, other central banks

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN a high volatile session, benchmark equity indices - Sensex and Nifty closed with significant cut for the second straight session.

The two-day significant decline in the domestic equity market has come on the back on rate hike by the US Federal Reserve and the Bank of England, increasing recession fears in the US and European region.

Add to it, fresh onslaught by Russia on Ukraine jittered investors sentiment.

Against this backdrop, the BSE Sensex dropped 461 points on Friday to settle at 61,338.

The broader Nifty50, too, slumped 146 points to end at 18,269.

On weekly basis, this is the second staright week when the two indices posted losses dragged by auto and tech stocks.

BSE Sensex dropped 461 points to settle at 61,338. Nifty50, too, slumped 146 points to end at 18,269. On weekly basis, this is the second staright week when the two indices posted losses dragged by auto and tech stocks. Among Nifty50 stocks, Dr Reddy's, M&M, Asian Paints, BPCL and Adani Ports were the biggest losers

Among Nifty50 stocks, Dr Reddy's, M&M, Asian Paints, BPCL and Adani Ports were the biggest losers. Tata Motors, HDFC Bank and HUL made some gains.

"Information technology (IT) sector continued to face selling pressure as Nasdaq keeps getting sold off. Realty stocks came under selling pressure as rising rates could dampen demand for properties. Global equity markets were largely down as investors were worried that the resolve of central banks to continue their fight against inflation could send the economies into recession," said Deepak Jasani, head of retail research, HDFC Securities.

"Nifty lost 1.23% over the week and looks set to continue its downward move. 18,088-18,133 band is the next support, while 18,442 could be tough to breach in the near term," he added.

Elsewhere in Asia, equity markets in Seoul, Tokyo and Shanghai ended lower, while Hong Kong settled in the green.

"The aggressiveness of central banks in combating inflation has raised concerns about the health of the global economy. Despite attempts to recoup losses, lack of global support pushed the indices back into negative territory," said Vinod Nair, Head of Research at Geojit Financial Services.

Govt cuts windfall tax on export of diesel, ATF, crude

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AS the crude oil prices softened in the international market, India on Friday slashed the windfall profit tax on domestically-produced crude oil, as well as on the export of diesel and aviation turbine fuel (ATF).

As per official notification, the tax on crude oil produced in the country has been reduced to ₹1,700 per tonne from ₹4,900. The government also reduced ₹3 per litre on the export of diesel to ₹5 per litre from ₹8 per litre. The tax on export of ATF was reduced to ₹1.5 a litre from ₹5 a litre. The new tax rates are effective from December 16.

Currently, crude oil in the international market came down by nearly 14%. Brent Crude Future, the benchmark of the crude price in the international market, was trading at $78.41 per barrel at 7.54 pm IST.

India first imposed windfall profit taxes on July 1, 2022, and levied export duties of ₹6 per litre ($12 per barrel) each on petrol and ATF and ₹13 a litre on diesel.

A ₹23,250 per tonne windfall profit tax on domestic crude production was also levied.

The tax rates are reviewed every fortnight based on average oil prices in the previous two weeks. The government levies tax on windfall profits made by oil producers on any price they get above a threshold of $75-76 per barrel. The levy on fuel exports is based on cracks or margins that refiners earn on overseas shipments.

SL, Mauritius banks open rupee trade accounts

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

After Russia, banks from Sri Lanka and Mauritius have also opened special rupee trading accounts in local branches here. So far 18 foreign banks have opened special rupee Vostro accounts with 11 local bank branches in India, sources in the commerce ministry said.

Officials at commerce ministry told this newspaper State Bank of India has also opened rupee trading accounts of Sri Lankan and Mauritius banks. The country's largest bank in the past expressed its reluctance to open rupee trading accounts for Russian entities citing risk of sanctions from the US and other European countries.

State Bank of India opens rupee trading accounts

Officials at commerce ministry said SBI has opened rupee trading accounts of Sri Lankan and Mauritius banks. The bank in the past expressed its reluctance to open rupee trading accounts for Russian entities citing risk of sanctions from the US and other European countries

Among other Indian banks, IndusInd Bank has opened 6 vostro accounts of Russian banks. Uco Bank, HDFC Bank, Canara Bank and Union Bank of India have one vostro account each of Russian banks. Indian Bank has opened three vostro accounts of Sri Lankan banks, while two local branches of Russian banks – Sberbank and VTB – have also opened rupee trading accounts.

A Vostro account is a corresponding account a local bank maintains for a foreign bank.

Meanwhile, commerce ministry officials have told this newspaper that in a recent joint meeting of banks and the Export Promotion Councils, it has been decided that Federation of Indian Export Organizations (FIEO) and Indian Banking Association (IBA) will organize sensitization meeting for bankers as well as exporters so that there is greater awareness about special Vostro accounts and how they operate.

"There is a lack of clarity as far as how the special rupee Vostro account will operate. In this context, RBI has already uploaded an FAQ and it has decided as and when there is a need for any clarity, the RBI will keep updating the FAQ so that at the banker or at an exporter level there is no doubt about the operational aspect of the special rupee vostro account," said an official.

The officials, however, could not share the number or value of transactions through these accounts.

Hyundai, Honda car prices to go up from Jan

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S second-largest carmaker Hyundai Motor India Ltd (HMIL) on Thursday said it will increase prices across its model range from January 2023. It said the price hike is due to a rise in input cost.

"The company has continued to absorb rising cost, however, will now pass on a part of the input cost increase through a revision in prices across its model range. HMIL will continue to make consistent internal efforts to minimize price impact to customers. New prices for HMIL model range come into effect from January, 2023," HMIl said in a statement.

Japanese car maker Honda also is planning to raise prices of its entire model range by up to ₹30,000 from January to partially offset the impact of rising input costs and prepare products in compliance with upcoming stricter emission norms. "After assessing the consistent increase in input cost and upcoming regulatory requirements, we will have to undergo a price revision for our products from January 23. The increment will be in the range of up to ₹30,000 and vary from model to model," said Honda Cars India vice-president (sales and marketing) Kunal Behl. As per the second phase of BS-VI emission regulations, to be effective from April 2023, vehicles will need to have an onboard self-diagnostic device to monitor the real-time driving emission levels. The device will constantly monitor key parts for meeting emission standards such as catalytic converter and oxygen sensors to keep a close watch on emissions. Additionally, in order to control the level of fuel burnt, the vehicles will also carry programmed fuel injectors.

RBI ADVISORY

Razorpay stops onboarding new merchants

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

FINTECH unicorn Razorpay has temporarily stopped onboarding new online merchants following an advisory that it received from the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Thursday.

As per sources, it will take at least two weeks for the firm to resume its onboarding operations and that it has to share additional details with the central bank to aid in the final payment aggregator (PA) licence. It is said this will not have any material impact on its revenues. Razorpay received approval for the PA license in July. Razorpay, which has about 8 million merchants, in a statement said, "As a responsible corporate that operates under the ambit of RBI, Razorpay has abided by the regulatory requirement. We would like to emphasize that this has no impact on Razorpay's existing business operations and current merchants." Pine Labs, which received nod from the RBI in July, said its Plural Payment gateway continues to remain compliant as per the PA/PG guidelines. As per reports, Cashfree too received an advisory from the RBI to stop onboarding new merchants. However, Cashfree could not be reached for comments.

IT services sector registers 17% growth in jobs in Nov

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

AFTER nearly seven months' decline in volume, the IT services sector has reported its first positive movement, as the sector registered 17% growth in job openings in November 2022 compared to the previous month, according to specialist staffing firm Xpheno.

In its Active Jobs Outlook Report in India in November 2022, the firm says the tech sector's collective volume grew by 18% in November over the previous month-October 2022.

"While global big tech players and their counterparts continue to rock the boat with layoffs and hiring freeze, Indian IT majors and cohorts aren't entirely following suit. The marginal recovery and return of hiring action among the Indian Tech cohorts is a sign of returning to moderated pre-covid levels of action," said Anil Ethanur, Co-Founder, Xpheno.

According to him, there could be a window of opportunity opening up for the Indian IT services sector, when global marquees under margin pressures, are reworking their plans to offshore jobs.

Despite the positive movement, the IT services recorded its second sharpest y-o-y drop of 39% in active jobs volume. Though the tech sector's collective volume grew by 18% on a m-o-m basis, it dropped by 47% on a y-o-y basis.

The report also says that active jobs in November continued its slow-paced recovery curve that commenced in October. November closed with an Active Jobs count of 2,60,000 compared to 2,25,000 registered in October.

START-UPS CREATE 8.6L DIRECT JOBS SINCE LAUNCH OF STARTUP INDIA

Since the launch of Startup India in 2016, Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) recognised start-ups have created over 8.6 lakh direct jobs till November 2022. DPITT has recognised 84,012 entities as start-ups from across the country. In 2022 (till November) alone, DPIIT recognised start-ups have created over 2.38 lakh jobs compared to over 1.98 lakh jobs that were created in 2021. Of 84,012 start-ups, Maharashtra has the highest number of recognised start-ups- 15,571 , followed by Karnataka - 9,904 and Delhi at 9,588. Startup India initiative was launched on 16 January 2016. The government's Action Plan comprises 19 action items.

'20% ethanol blended fuel to be available at outlets'

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

INDIA is ready to launch 20% ethanol blended fuel and it will be available at selected outlets from next month, said petroleum minster Hardeep Singh Puri on Friday.

Puri while speaking at curtain raiser of India Energy Week 2023 at Bengaluru also said it (20% ethanol blending) will not require a change in engine.

"We have achieved 10% blending of petrol in June 2022, which was well ahead of November 2022 deadline. We have also accelerated efforts to reach ambitious goal of E-20 (20% ethanol blending in gasoline) by ethanol supply year (ESY) 2025-2026. In fact, E-20 will be available at selected outlets from next month," said the minister.

He also stated that setting up 2G (second generation) refineries to make ethanol from Parali (Panipat) and Bamboo (Numaligarh) with the twin objective of reducing pollution, along with achieving energy security goals. The minister also added that the country has diversified its import basket. "From only 27 countries (2006-2007), we have increased the number to 39 countries (2021-22). In the process, we have added new countries like Libya, Gabon, Equatorial Guinea, Guyana; while strengthening our relationship with countries like the US and Russia," said Puri.

Setting up refineries to make ethanol, says Puri

Hardeep Singh Puri said setting up 2G (second generation) refineries to make Ethanol from Parali (Panipat) and Bamboo (Numaligarh) with the twin objective of reducing pollution along with achieving energy security goals.

Accoding to him, due to reforms India's crude production has gone up 18%, from 28.7 billion cubic metres (BCM) in 2020-21 to 34 BCM in 2021-22, and is expected to grow further to 36 BCM in 2022-23. Our oil production has risen from 29.7 MMT in 2021-22 to 30.8 MMT in 2022-23, and is estimated to rise to 34 MMT in 2023-24.

MEDAL AND PRIDE AT STAKE

JAMES ROBSON @ Doha

TO some, it's little more than a meaningless exhibition match. To others, it's a chance to become "immortal." The third-place playoff at the World Cup can be a confusing concept. "You are so disappointed, you've just lost a semifinal and then two days later you have to go back out there," Morocco coach Walid Regragui said on Friday.

Regragui's history-making team — the first African nation to reach the World Cup semifinals — will play Croatia on Saturday at Khalifa International Stadium.

"It's like the booby prize," Regragui said. "I am sorry for speaking like this. I understand that it should be important, I understand that it is better to finish third than fourth, but for, me my takeaway is that we just didn't get to the final."

Morocco's run to the semifinals in Qatar provided the most improbable story of the tournament. The team was also the first Arab nation to go so far in soccer's biggest event, generating an outpouring of pride among Arab countries.

After such a wild and dizzying ride, it's understandable that Regragui sounded so flat when looking ahead to the match against Croatia. It's also a measure of his own ambition that he ends an unforgettable tournament for African soccer with a sense of disappointment after being beaten by defending champion France 2-0.

"Yes, finishing third would be great for our image. We would be on the podium," the coach said.

"But you know what, even if we win the game tomorrow (Saturday) we won't have got to the final and we won't have won the World Cup." The atmosphere from the Croatian side has been more upbeat. The runners-up from the last World Cup in Russia lost to Argentina 3-0 in the other semifinal match, but their players have spoken of the importance of winning another medal. Forward Andrej Kramaric described it as the chance to "become an immortal hero in your country."

"Eight of us from (the tournament in) Russia understand that feeling of winning a medal at the World Cup and we have a lot of players who haven't experienced that and would love to do that because it's something that will stay with you for the rest of their life," Kramaric said.

Luka Modric, who is likely playing in his last World Cup, had similar thoughts.

"We need to leave everything to win the bronze medal and let our fans celebrate one more time," he said.

To finish second and third in back-to-back World Cups would further secure the legacy of a golden generation for Croatia. AP

Renewed aims to host WC

AGENCIES @ Doha

THE idea that Morocco could co-host the 2030 World Cup with near-neighbors Spain and Portugal seemed a bit crazy when it was floated four years ago. It doesn't seem so crazy now.

Morocco has gained status inside FIFA and credibility with fans by eliminating Spain and then Portugal in knockout games to be the first African team to advance to a World Cup semifinals. There are longer-term prospects for the national team with a solid foundation seemingly in place.

Though there is no proposal yet to create a first multicontinent World Cup hosting bid, the head of Morocco's soccer federation still believes in the concept. "We wanted this organization to be shared between the African continent and the European continent," Fouzi Lekjaa told AP. "In order to show the world that the relationship between Africa and Europe is not only the relationship of illegal immigration and the fight against it," Lekjaa said. "Rather, it is a relationship in which civilizations can meet and cultures meet."

NUGGETS & TRIVIA

The 1954 FIFA World Cup final won by Germany while playing against the crowd favourites Hungary is known as the 'Miracle of Bern'. Under the guidance of Coach Sepp Herberger, while playing against Hungary in the group stage match, Herberger sent a reserve team on the pitch and was defeated. However, when the two teams faced off again in the final, they won the match with a score of 3-2.

Youngest referee to officiate in a WC

The youngest referee to officiate a FIFA World cup was Sweden's Ivan Eklind. He was 28 years at the 1934 World Cup and 32 years old at the 1938 tournament. On the other hand, the oldest referee to oversee a World Cup game was George Reader of England. He was 53 when he officiated the 1950 Brazil-Uruguay final.

Qatar FIFA WORLD CUP FINALS 2022

Croatia (4-3-3): Livakovic (1), Juranovic (22), Lovren (6), Gvardiol (20, Sosa (19); Brozovic (11), Kovacic (8), Modric (10); Vlasic (13), Petkovic (16), Perisic (4).

Morocco (4-3-3): Bono (1), Hakimi (2), Dari (20), J Yamiq (18), Attiyat Allah (25); Amrabat (4), Ounahi (8), Amallah (15); Ziyech (7), En-Nesyri (19), Boufal (17).

MATCH POINT

Morocco have already entered the history books but they know they can grab further history as they seek to become the first African nation to medal at the World Cup. For Croatia, they can win back-to-back medals for the first time.

MOROCCO

After displaying their defensive solidity throughout the first five games, the Atlas Lions showed their attacking attitude against France. They went at Les Bleus in thrilling fashion and were unlucky to at least not take the game to extra-time.

CROATIA

After largely controlling the first-half of the first-half of the semifinal, the wheels came off their match against Argentina. A fine third-place finish will be some way to perhaps bid farewell to the likes of Luka Modric. The next generation, though, is already here.

TALKING POINTS

EN-NESYRI VS GVARDIOL

Josko Gvardiol was turned multiple ways by Lionel Messi but he will be keen to show he's the real deal against En-Nesyri, a very different kind of attacker. He provides Morocco with a crucial presence up front. Like he showed against Portugal, he has a leap and the 20-year-old defender should be mindful of that.

AMRABAT VS MODRIC

The Fiorentina defensive midfielder has been the ultimate midfield presence for the Atlas Lions who has mopped up admirably in front of the big four. Maestro Luka Modric, if he does play, will face a big barrier if he wants to end his international career with another superlative display.

3 France players ill two days before final

DOHA: France players Raphael Varane, Ibrahima Konate and Kingsley Coman sat out training on Friday with cold-like symptoms two days before the World Cup final against Argentina, a source close to the team said. Coman, the Bayern Munich winger, had already been forced to miss a training session on Thursday because of a "light viral syndrome", the French Football Federation (FFF) said. Coman was an unused substitute in the 2-0 win against Morocco in Wednesday's semifinal.

STARRY KNIGHTS

Messi vs Mbappe: When Argentina play France in final, it will be more than just a match

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

THE capital clash. Old vs new. Two of Qatar's most famous employees facing each other for football's ultimate prize with the winner likely to win the next Ballon d'Or. PSG vs PSG. Millennial vs Centennial. Generation Y vs Generation Z. King vs first in the line of succession. Lionel Messi vs Kylian Mbappe.

You can dress up the World Cup final between Argentina and France as an encounter between two of the great football superpowers but it is, first and foremost, a meeting between one of the greatest players the world has ever seen against the one next in line to assume that position. It just so happens that Messi and Mbappe have been two of the best players over the last month in Qatar. And they have been the best by doing what they do best.

Mbappe has terrorised defences down France's left wing by being a one-man battering ram, using his pace, acceleration, dribbling skills and his wand of a right foot to devastating effect.

Messi, who usually occupies the right half-space of the attacking third, has accelerated away from defenders and still possesses one of the game's best known finishes — like the goal he scored against Australia — but he has been more withdrawn. He was always a playmaker but these days, he's almost made a new role for himself; a cross between an advanced playmaker and an enganche, a hook that links midfield and attack.

While both teams are stylistically very different in the way they play — Argentina press more while France are more standoffish, and Argentina like to have the ball more and it almost seems like they quickly lose control if they don't while France are more than happy for the opponents to have the ball — both teams like it that way as it helps Messi and Mbappe do their thing.

Both players are greater than the sum of the goals they score. If you include all of their contributions (including pre assists as well as passes in the build-up before goals), Mbappe has had a hand in 11 of the 13 goals France have scored. Outside of the pass to Ousmane Dembele who supplied the pre-assist for Aurelien Tchouameni against England, his back-heel set up Adrien Rabiot's assist for Olivier Giroud's opener against Australia.

> ...He is one of the best players in the world so we will try to counter Messi's threat as much as possible, just as Argentina will try to stop the influence of some of my players.
> Didier Deschamps, France coach on Lionel Messi

Messi's contributions is slightly skewed (nine out of 12 goals) because of the penalties. But he's been front and centre in every match. Penalty against Saudi Arabia, goal and assist against Mexico, winning (and missing) a penalty against Poland, assist against Australia, assisting and scoring against Netherlands, pre-assist, pass that led to the penalty and scoring against Croatia. It goes without saying that any goal these two nations score on Sunday will likely see the involvement of these two individuals.

Both players are hardly involved in the defensive third, they are also excused from pressing duties. Mbappe, incredibly, has a total number of zero defensive actions (blocks, interceptions, tackles and clearances) across the World Cup. Messi is marginally better, three tackles and as many clearances.

This may change on Sunday, not least because Mbappe (left) and Messi (right) operate on the same areas of the pitch. If one of them brings a laissez-faire attitude to tracking back, it runs the risk of the other isolating the opposition fullback. But you suspect the midfielders will have to help out more.

This is even before you come to the narrative arcs at stake, even within the subplot of these two players. It's no secret that most young players have grown up idolising one of Messi or Cristiano Ronaldo. For Mbappe, it's been Ronaldo (he even had posters of the Portuguese stuck on his bedroom wall). There's also been Mbappe's relationship with Messi at PSG (to be fair, Mbappe has acknowledged Messi as one of the best a few times). It's been okay at the best of times. But the presence of the Argentine (and Neymar) in PSG has meant that Mbappe hasn't had the freedom he gets with France.

"I play differently here," he had famously said after a game for France in September. "I am asked to do different things than with my club. I have much more freedom. The coach knows we have a number nine in 'Olive' (Olivier Giroud) who keeps the defences occupied. I can run about, find space and look for the ball. With Paris (PSG), it's different. I can't do that. I am asked to be more of a pivot for the others." One of those others of course if for Messi.

But Mbappe knows he's in position A1 to assume that throne. "I always say I dream about everything," he had told New York Times in September. "I have no limits. So, of course, like you say, it's a new generation. And Ronaldo, Messi — you're gonna stop. We have to find someone else, someone new." Someone like Mbappe, who knows that if he can lead France to back-to-back World Cups, he will put himself in pole position to win a first Ballon d'Or as well as a second world title before the age of 24. The last person to win two World Cups while being younger? Pele. Mbappe's legacy would instantly be somewhere in the stratosphere.

Conversely, if Messi wins, it will be Maradona-esque in its achievement. He's already had the kind of impact that other Argentine had in 1986.

Santos quits, Mourinho tipped to take Portugal role

LISBON: Fernando Santos quit as coach of Portugal on Thursday following the team's shock World Cup quarterfinal loss to Morocco with colourful and controversial Jose Mourinho named as a leading candidate to take over. The Portuguese football federation (FPF) said in a statement that an agreement was reached with the 68-year-old Santos "to end the journey of great success that began in September 2014". The FPF added that it "will now launch the process to choose the next national coach".

Busquets retires from international football

BARCELONA: Spanish midfielder and 2010 World Cup winner Sergio Busquets announced his international retirement on Friday. "I would like to announce that after almost 15 years and 143 matches, the moment has arrived to bid farewell to the national team," wrote the 34-year-old on his social media platforms. Busquets is the last member of the 2010 team to bow out of international football — he was also part of the team that lifted the 2012 European title. He was captain of the 2022 World Cup side.

Forgetting strife for a while, Messi's hometown yearns for victory

DANIEL POLITI @ Rpsario (Argentina)

FERNANDA Quiroga still remembers how Lionel Messi played soccer in what were then dirt roads around their working class neighborhood in Rosario, Argentina's third-largest city. "(Messi) was always kicking something, a ball, a bottle cap," said Quiroga, who at 35 is the same age as the captain of Argentina's national soccer team. "The memory I have of him because he lived right in front of my house, is going to buy sweet pastries at his grandmother's around the block and he was always kicking something."

Excitement for Sunday's World Cup final, when Argentina will face defending champion France in Qatar, is rising fast and anxiety is running particularly high in Messi's hometown as many are hoping this will be the year when Messi finally wins the one major trophy that has been missing from his illustrious career.

"Even though it pains us all, it's been said this is Leo's last World Cup, so we're all hoping he wins it, I think more for him than for the national team itself," Quiroga said. "I think what weighs more this time around is that we want him to get it because he has generated so much love and respect."

After beating Croatia in the semifinals Tuesday, Messi said Sunday's match would likely be his last in a World Cup. The neighborhood popularly known as La Bajada has turned into a sort of altar for Messi with murals and graffiti that praise the soccer star. "From another galaxy and from my neighborhood," reads graffiti that is seemingly ubiquitous in the area. A large mural of Messi looking up at the sky is painted on the side of his old house that still belongs to his family.

"The little guy was very spicy. If he got mad, he grabbed the ball and took it away," said Marcelo Almada, a 37-year-old construction worker who played soccer with Messi in the streets around the neighborhood where he still lives. "He didn't like to lose ... but he was a very good kid."

With the World Cup, "there has been an explosion in the neighborhood," where "we're all like brothers," he added, noting that after every Argentina victory people celebrate in the streets until the early hours of the morning. The neighborhood has also turned into a place of pilgrimage, with fans from all over the world coming to visit Messi's old house and the small soccer field in the corner where he started to learn the skills that would eventually turn him into an all-time great.

Messi, and the national team as a whole, have managed to raise the hope and optimism of Argentines in a country that has been stuck in economic doldrums for years with one of the world's highest inflations rates, closing in on almost 100% per year, and where close to four of every 10 people live in poverty.

"Everyone wants Messi to win and that generates a community, a very pleasant feeling that is very infrequent in Argentina, which is always fighting, divided, angry, frustrated," said Diego Schwarzstein, an endocrinologist who treated Messi for growth hormone deficiency until he left for Barcelona at 13 after the European club promised to pay for his costly treatment.

In Rosario, a city marred by drug violence, that feeling seems even more stark.

"You forget a little bit about the murders, the robberies and all other things that are happening," Sosa said. "This distracts us a little bit."

It isn't, of course, just about a distraction. For those who have followed Messi's career from the beginning, a victory Sunday would mean the culmination of lifelong work considering the soccer star himself has talked about the importance of winning a World Cup title. AP

GILL, PUJARA HIT TONS AS INDIA DOMINATE

Visitors set Bangladesh an improbable 513-run target in first Test

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

A LONG wait ended for India batters Shubman Gill and Cheteshwar Pujara as the duo slammed a century each to put India in driver's seat against hosts Bangladesh on Day 3 of the first Test at the Zahur Ahmed Chowdhury Stadium, Chattogram on Friday.

While Gill scored his maiden Test century, Pujara scored his first ton, 19th overall, in almost four years. His last century came way back in January 2019 against Australia. Meanwhile, for the second day in succession, Bangladesh were completely outplayed as Kuldeep Yadav's career-best 5/40 helped India dismiss the hosts for a paltry 150 in just 55.5 overs.

With nearly three days at their disposal and a lead of 254, India captain KL Rahul decided against enforcing the follow-on as Gill (110) and Pujara (102 not out) took full advantage of a toothless Bangaldesh attack that also missed its lead pacer Ebadot Hossain due to a back-injury.

The moment Pujara exorcised the ghosts of the last four years with the completion of his fastest Test hundred, skipper Rahul declared the Indian second innings closed at 258/2.

At stumps, Bangladesh were 42 for no loss on a track where a lot of balls are indeed keeping low but the pitch hasn't shown considerable wear and tear. The hosts still require 471 runs to win the match. However to bat for 180 overs over two days will be an improbable task for the Bangladesh batting line-up against the Indian bowling line-up. "Obviously we will see a result in this match. Either we will win or they will win," said Bangladesh all-rounder Mehidy Hasan. "But our batsmen need to take responsibility," he said. "The wicket is still good. Execution is very important."

However, Kuldeep is confident that he along with Ravichandran Ashwin and Axar Patel will be able to give his team a 1-0 lead in the two-match series. "We are expecting more turn off the surface in the second innings compared to first innings," Kuldeep said.

SYDNEY Thunder on Friday suffered the humiliation of crashing to the lowest-ever total in the history of T20 cricket after being dismissed for just 15 runs by Adelaide Strikers in a Big Bash League match.

Defending 139, Henry Thornton and Wes Agar breathed fire as Thunder's innings collapsed in just 5.5 overs — the shortest completed innings in men's T20 history, as Adelaide scripted a 124-run win.

There were five ducks with number 10 batter Brendan Doggett managing four runs, the highest individual score for his team. Before this match, the infamous record of lowest total in professional T20 cricket was held by Turkey, who were dismissed for 21 by Czech Republic in August 2019 during their 257-run win in Continental Cup.

In reply, Nagaland lasted just 18 overs with spinners Mayank Mishra (9-7-4-5) and Swapnil Singh (9-5-21-4) running riot. This was the fourth lowest total in the history of Ranji Trophy as Nagaland joined the ill-famed list headed by Hyderabad who were skittled out for 21 by Rajasthan. "It's exciting times for Rehan," captain Ben Stokes said.

Chandran, Jalaj help Kerala win

AGENCIES @Ranchi

DOMESTIC stalwart Jalaj Saxena returned with a match haul of nine wickets while debutant off-spinner Vaisakh Chandran claimed a second innings five-for as Kerala beat Jharkhand by 85 runs in their Ranji Trophy Group C match on Friday. After the impressive figures of 5/75 in the first innings, Jalaj returned with 4/56 in the second essay. It complemented Chandran's splendid show of 5/57 as Jharkhand folded for 237 in their chase of 323.

Vaisakh Chandran

It was the 26-year-old off-spinner who ripped the Jharkhand top-five and reduced them to 102/5 inside 27 overs to derail their chase early on.

In-form India batter Ishan Kishan, who scored a century in the first essay, opened the innings for Jharkhand in their big chase.

However, Chandran had his say and revelled on the fourth day wicket, first inflicting a double blow in Kishan (22) and Kumar Suraj (0) within the span of three deliveries. Continuing his assault, Chandran cleaned up the other opener Nazim Siddiqui (17), and dismissed Saurabh Tiwary (37) and Utkarsh Singh (0) in four deliveries en route to his figures of 17-1-57-5.

Japan announces major defence overhaul

To reshape military command and buy new missiles to put itself on an offensive footing amid threats from China

TOKYO

IN a major break from its strictly self-defence-only postwar principle, Japan adopted a national security strategy on Friday, declaring plans to possess preemptive strike capability and cruise missiles within years to give itself more offensive footing against threats from neighboring China and North Korea.

With China, North Korea and Russia directly to its west and north, Japan "faces the severest and most complicated national security environment since the end of the war," the strategy said, referring to World War II. It named China as "the biggest strategic challenge" — before North Korea and Russia — to Japan's effort toward ensuring the peace, safety and stability for itself and the international society.

Japanese PM Fumio Kshida

Possession of the strike-back capability is "indispensable" as deterrence to discourage enemy attacks, Prime Minister Fumio Kishida told a news conference Friday, calling it "a major change to Japan's postwar security policy."

"When threats become reality, can the Self-Defence Force fully protect our country? Frankly speaking, the current (SDF capability) is insufficient," Kishida said.

Under the strategy, Japan's defence spending through 2027 will increase to about 2% of Japan's GDP to total some $320 billion, 1.6-times that of the current five-year total.

Kishida said the new target sets the NATO standard for defence spending, a budget increase that has been his policy priority since taking office in October 2021. Because of its wartime past as an aggressor and national devastation after its defeat, Japan's postwar policy prioritized the economic growth while keeping its security light by relying on American troops stationed in Japan under their bilateral security agreement. Japan's defence buildup has long been considered a sensitive issue at home and in the region, especially for Asian victims of Japanese wartime atrocities.

But experts say China's growing influence, Russia's invasion of Ukraine and fear of Taiwan emergency prompted many Japanese to support increased capability and spending.

"Taiwan emergency and Japan emergency are inseparable," said Ken Jimbo, a defence expert at Keio University, noting that Japan's westernmost island of Yonaguni is only 110 kilometers away from Taiwan. Rapid advancement of missiles have become "realistic threats" in the region, making interception by existing missile defence systems more difficult, the strategy said. AP

Beijing sends ships into Pacific

Beijing: A squadron of Chinese Navy ships sailed through straits near Japan into the Western Pacific this week, while Beijing on Friday blasted Tokyo's adoption of a new national security strategy. The destroyers Lhasa and Kaifeng, and a replenishment ship, sailed through the Osumi Strait in southern Japan, all arriving in the Western Pacific by Thursday. Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Wang Wenbin reiterated accusations Japan was "ignoring facts, deviating from its commitment to China-Japan relations"

Putin planning for a long war in Ukraine, says NATO chief

BRUSSELS

RUSSIA is readying for a protracted war in Ukraine and Kyiv's NATO backers must keep sending weapons until President Vladimir Putin realises he "cannot win on the battlefield", alliance chief Jens Stoltenberg told AFP on Friday.

Almost 10 months into Moscow's invasion, Kyiv's forces have inflicted a succession of defeats on the Kremlin that have seen swathes of territory liberated.

But NATO Secretary General Stoltenberg warned there was no sign Putin had "given up his overall goal of controlling Ukraine".

"We should not underestimate Russia. Russia is planning for a long war," Stoltenberg said in an interview.

"We see that they are mobilising more forces, that they are willing to suffer also a lot of casualties, that they are trying to get access to more weapons and ammunition," he added.

"We have to understand that President Putin is ready to be in this war for a long time and to launch new offensives."

"Most likely this war will end at the negotiating table, as most wars do," Stoltenberg said, insisting any solution should ensure "Ukraine prevails as a sovereign, independent nation.

"The fastest way to achieve that is to support them militarily so President Putin understands that he cannot win on the battlefield but has to sit down and negotiate in good faith." In response to its setbacks on the battlefield, Moscow has unleashed waves of missile and drone strikes against Ukraine's civilian energy infrastructure.

Stoltenberg said there was a "discussion going on" about delivering Patriots, but pointed out that NATO allies had to make sure there was enough ammunition and spare parts to keep weapons sent so far working. AFP

5 children among 10 dead in apartment fire in France

PARIS

TEN people died, including five children, in a pre-dawn blaze on Friday at a rundown apartment building in a deprived suburb of the French city of Lyon, the government said.

Prosecutors were probing the source of the fire that broke out at around 3.00 am (local time) in a residential building in Vaulx-en-Velin that was a known drug dealing spot, according to Interior Minister Gerald Darmanin.

Darmanin said it was too early to draw any conclusions about the cause but hailed the work of firefighters, who arrived on the scene 12 minutes after being alerted.

They "were able to save 15 people by taking considerable risks for their own lives by climbing the building from the outside... saving children and babies up to the seventh floor", he said.

"Without the rapidity of the fire services and their heroism we would have had a much worse toll," he said.

Nineteen people were injured, including four "whose lives are still in danger", Darmanin said, adding that some of the bodies of the deceased were still being identified.

Witnesses at the scene described panicked occupants of the building screaming for help as smoke billowed from the windows.

Several described children being dropped to crowds at the foot of the building, while one woman was said to have died after jumping from an upper floor to escape.

"There were people on the ground, others stuck on the balconies and the firefighters had difficulty in intervening because of the trees," he told AFP. "After, she jumped but then she died from her injuries," he added. Two of the 170 firefighters at the scene suffered minor injuries while battling the flames, which broke out on the ground floor of the building. AFP

EU cross as Twitter suspends accounts of journos

BRUSSELS

TWITTER-OWNER Elon Musk drew anger and stern warnings from regulators on Friday after suspending the accounts of half a dozen prominent journalists — accusing them of endangering his family.

Journalists from CNN, The New York Times and the Washington Post were cut off from the platform without warning on Friday, provoking the newest controversy since Musk took over the company on October 27. "News about arbitrary suspension of journalists on Twitter is worrying," EU commissioner Vera Jourova posted on Twitter, warning the influential platform could face hefty fines through European laws.

"Elon Musk should be aware of that. There are red lines. And sanctions, soon," she added. The latest controversy began when Musk on Wednesday suspended @elonjet, an account that tracked flights of his private jet.

Musk said the move was necessary after a car in Los Angeles carrying one of his children was followed by "a crazy stalker" and seemed to blame the tracking of his jet for this incident.

Some of the journalists had reported on the affair, including tweets linking to the suspended account, which Musk said amounted to "assassination coordinates" against he and his family.

In a chat hosted live on Twitter, Musk provided no evidence for his claim but told some of the suspended reporters that on Twitter "everyone's going to be treated the same... they're not special because you're a journalist."

Elon Musk

Pressed further on his allegations, Musk ended the conversation. Twitter Spaces, the feature where the chat took place, was then suspended.

Media organisations criticized the move sharply and opened the door to re-evaluating their relationship with Twitter, which has become an essential tool for journalism in the past decade.

"The impulsive and unjustified suspension of a number of reporters, including CNN's Donie O'Sullivan, is concerning but not surprising," the news organization said in a tweet.

"Twitter's increasing instability and volatility should be of incredible concern for everyone who uses the platform."

The New York Times said in a statement it also wanted answers from Twitter regarding the "questionable" suspension of journalists.

UN chief Antonio Guterres declared himself "very disturbed" by suspension of journalists from Twitter, calling it a "dangerous precedent."

"Media voices should not be silenced on a platform that professes to be a space for freedom of speech," said Guterres' spokesman. AFP

QUAKE TOLL JUMPS TO 602 FROM 334 AFTER FRESH COUNT

The death toll from an earthquake that hit Indonesia's main island Java last month has jumped by hundreds to 602, a local administration official said Friday, after authorities verified unreported casualties across the worst-hit town. The shallow 5.6-magnitude earthquake hit the town of Cianjur in Indonesia's most populous province West Java on November 21, with most of the victims killed as buildings collapsed or landslides were triggered. Cianjur local administration spokesman Adam, who like many Indonesians goes by one name, told AFP the new toll — up from a previously reported figure of 334 — was based on data collected from residents across the town. He said many people had rushed to bury their relatives after the disaster without reporting their deaths to authorities

INDIAN MAID PLEADS GUILTY TO ABUSING PRE-SCHOOL GIRL

A 39-year-old Indian woman working as a maid in Singapore has pleaded guilty to abusing a pre-school girl. The maid, who was not named, owing to a gag order to protect the victim's identity, is expected to be sentenced on January 9, 2023, the Straits Times reported. The maid began working in the victim's home in July 2020. In mid-2021, the child's mother started noticing bruises on her daughter's cheeks. "When the (mother) asked the accused about the bruises, the accused responded that she did not know how the victim had got the bruises and that she had not noticed them before." Around January 10, 2022, the mother spotted a bruise on her daughter's back and suspected that the child could have been abused. She then alerted the police

Landslide at Malaysia campground kills 18, leaves 15 missing

BATANG KALI

A thunderous crush of soil and debris killed 18 people at a campground in Malaysia on Friday, and rescuers dug through the dirt for another 15 who were feared buried in the landslide.

Two of the dead were found locked in an embrace, according to the state fire department chief.

More than 90 people were sleeping on an organic farm when the soil tumbled from a road about 30 meters above the site and covered about 1 hectare. Authorities told local media that the landowners did not have a license to run a campground. At least seven people were hospitalized and dozens more were rescued unharmed, said district police chief Suffian Abdullah.

Leong Jim Meng told the New Straits Times English-language daily that he and his family were awakened by a loud bang and felt the earth move at the campsite in Batang Kali, around 50 kilometers north of the capital of Kuala Lumpur.

Rescuers work at the campsite following a landslide, in Batang Kali, Selangor state, on the outskirts of Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia on Friday | AFP

"My family and I were trapped as soil covered our tent. We managed to escape to a carpark area and heard a second landslide happening," the 57-year-old was quoted as saying. He said it was surprising because there was no heavy rain in recent days, only light drizzles. It is currently the season for monsoon rains in Malaysia, and the country's government development minister, Nga Kor Ming, said all campsites nationwide that are near rivers, waterfalls and hillsides would be closed for a week to assess their safety. The Selangor state fire department posted photos of rescuers with flashlights digging through soil and rubble with an excavator and shovels in the early hours of the morning. Over 400 people as well as tracking dogs were involved in the search-and-rescue efforts.

Fire chief Norazam Khamis was cited by the Free Malaysia Today news portal as saying that two of the bodies found so far were 'hugging each other' and believed to be mother and daughter. AP

Ramaphosa set to be re-elected party prez

JOHANNESBURG

SOUTH Africa's ruling party went into a closely watched conference on Friday that looks set to re-elect Cyril Ramaphosa as leader, despite a tarnishing cash-heist scandal.

Some 4,500 African National Congress (ANC) delegates sporting bright yellow and green T-shirts gathered at an events centre near Johannesburg where they will vote for a new leader on Saturday.

Ramaphosa is bidding to retain the reins of the ANC as the storied party struggles with rifts and declining support after 28 years in power.

Portraying himself as a graft-busting champion, Ramaphosa took control of the ANC in 2017. The party's majority in parliament means that it also has control over the process to approve the national president.

But Ramaphosa's clean-hands image has been dented by allegations he concealed a huge cash burglary at his farm rather than report the matter to the authorities. Despite this, the 70-year-old leader appears on track to win the party leadership election. The start of the conference was several hours behind schedule, but a party official said that, despite the delay, voting will be on time, and results will be released around five hours later. AFP

DAY'S DIARY

A failed mission

In 1979, The Budweiser Rocket, a rocket powered land vehicle was claimed as the first vehicle to have broken the sound barrier on land

CONTROVERSY

The first run of the car showed that the propulsion system was unable to develop enough power to sustain a speed high enough to establish a new record

DEBATABLE CLAIMS

Despite an unauthorised written speed certification by the United States Air Force, there was much debate over the validity of the claim

CLARITY

The British Thrust SSC was later officially recognised by the FIA as breaking the land speed record and the sound barrier with an average speed of 1227.98 kmph

Back to 'Mounts'

As part of the 75-year celebrations, Mount Carmel College felicitated 75 alumni who have been torchbearers in their fields. Prominent Carmelites recall their college years with CE

EXPRESS FEATURES

MOUNT Carmel College (MCC) recently turned 75. A place that many girls called their second home... A place that many women felt prepared them to face the world. It was homecoming for some Carmelites when the college felicitated 75 alumni who have been achievers and society's torch-bearers. Some of the personalities who were felicitated as part of the Platinum Jubilee celebrations include thespian Arundhati Raja, marketing leader Malavika Harita and international badminton player Ashwini Ponnappa to name a few.

Scribes, sportspeople, singers, dancers... the celebrations saw ex-students from different walks of life stride into the auditorium, thankful for the education the college had provided them. One such was Nirupama Rao, former Indian Foreign Service officer from the 1973 batch of MCC. She served as India's Foreign Secretary from 2009 to 2011, as well as being India's Ambassador to the United States, China and Sri Lanka (high commissioner) during her career. "The college played a significant role in shaping my career choice to join the Indian Foreign Service and in teaching me the courage of conviction," says Rao, who completed her BA (Honours) in English from the college in 1970.

Nirupama Rao

For ex-Carmalite, dancer and choreographer Madhu Nataraj, it was emotional for her to meet the sisters from college. "When I walk up the drive, I still wonder if I have finished my accountancy homework," she mentions with a laugh. "The college shaped my personality in a way that I cannot fathom. I had just moved from Delhi to Bengaluru, from a co-ed school to an all-girls' college but within two weeks of being there, I realised how much more liberated I felt being in a space with so many powerful women. Very early on, I realised that women need to support each other. If I look back, Mounts was a germination board for a whole lot of possibilities," says Nataraj.

Vasundhara Das

Singer Vasundhara Das, who passed out in 1998, agrees. Though Das has been a frequent visitor to college to guide present students, going there as one of the 75 students to be felicitated on the Platinum Jubilee celebrations was special. The singer gives full credit to the college for shaping her personality. "The focus is on all-round development. The teachers and staff have a very positive outlook. They train girls to be multi-faceted. That works well for those who want to do well beyond academics. After all, life is more than just exams," concludes Das.

10th National Conference on K-12 leadership held

Education Today hosted one of the largest educators' gatherings of the year called The 10th National Conference on K-12 leadership and the India School Merit Awards on December 7 at Taj Bengaluru. The conference was a gathering of principals, educators and stakeholders all under one roof from across the country, to participate in insightful discussions and brainstorming sessions. The award show witnessed some of the top schools from various categories being awarded and felicitated for their exemplary contributions to the field of education. Zen International Public School was ranked No.1 in co-curricular education under the category 'India's Top CBSE Schools Parameter- Wise'. School secretary Sudha Murty and principal Prashanthi Shashikanth were present to receive the title.

Ahead of the World Cup final on Sunday, which will be Lionel Messi's last match for Argentina, footballers and coaches wait with bated breath to watch the footballing wizard cast his final spell

THE FINAL ROAR

TUNIR BISWAS

THE menacing man arrives and sinks his flaming spear into the hearts of Real Madrid. Astonishing from Messi. All the pieces falling into place. Messi, born into the crossfire hurricane and he is Jumpin' Jack Flash," screamed former English footballer, and commentator Ray Hudson after Lionel Messi scored the winning goal in the Barcelona shirt against Real Madrid in the El Classico in 2017. Now five years later, the menacing man from Argentina will play his final match for his country on football's biggest stage: the FIFA World Cup final on Sunday, December 18.

Like the fans in the South American nation, people in Bengaluru have also been gearing up to watch King Leo (as Messi is affectionately called) with bated breath. The final against France would be Messi's swan song for his national team and all shudder in silence as they prepare themselves to experience the symphony.

Pradhyum Reddy, a Scottish-born former Indian football player, who is now a pundit in the Indian Super League, was fortunate enough to watch Messi come on during a match as a substitute back in the early 2000s for Barcelona. "Right from then, I could tell he was a phenomenal talent, and it has been great to watch him maintain that high level all these years while continuing to evolve as a player. Now, we can say he has matched the high-level football he has produced for Barcelona with his national team as well. If Argentina does go on to win the World Cup, that would be the perfect way to end Messi's international career," shares Reddy, who also worked as the assistant coach for Bengaluru FC and currently serves as CEO of Goa-based Dempo Sporting Club.

We can say Messi has matched the high-level football he has produced for Barcelona with his national team. If Argentina goes on to win the World Cup, that would be the perfect way to end his international career

Pradhyum Reddy, football coach

Messi is one of the few footballing superstars whose influence has seeped into the entire world. Sarthak Dubey, co-founder and director of Double Pass Development League, the city's largest grassroots league also active in Mumbai, has seen the Argentine national's significant impact on the young players of Bengaluru. "We work with very young children, between the ages of six and 15. Almost every child regards Messi as their footballing idol. They want to be like him and dribble like him. Over the last decade, we have noticed a shift towards football from cricket in urban cities like Bengaluru, Mumbai, Delhi or Chennai and Messi has played a huge role in that. Just watching players like Messi or Cristiano Ronaldo has made that change happen," says Dubey, who had witnessed Messi play in 2011 when he came down to India as part of the Argentina squad in a friendly match against Venezuela in Kolkata.

"A striking quality in his game is how quick he is and how he changes his direction on the field. I have seen a lot of fast players like Ronaldo or Mbappe, but the kind of speed that Messi brings to the table is rare. It's almost like the ball is sticking to his feet. I don't think any other player brings that kind of a threat to the opposing team. We all remember when he scored the last-minute goal against Madrid and held his shirt against the opposing crowd," says Mithila Ramani, a professional footballer in the Karnataka Super Division and also the head of operations for Sisters in Sweat in the city.

Jonah Sainson Edward, who played for India in the Socca World Cup 2022, believes Messi will give his all in the upcoming final. "I am pretty sure he is going to give his all even if his legs break. He has influenced my game a lot by showing that you can always find a way to turn your disadvantages into an advantage. He has also shown us how to behave without our teammates off the field. He always gives respect to those who deserve it," says Edward. The last and only time Messi competed in the World Cup final was in 2014 when Argentina lost to Germany.

FIT BIT

PADMA MUDRA IN URDHVA HASTA PRAPADA KALYASANA

This pose translates to 'Lotus hand seal in upward hands and tip toe pose dedicated to goddess Kali'. It is a toe-balancing posture that places pressure on and stimulates the calves and ankles. It helps to build strength and postural awareness.

STEPS

- Begin in Tadasana (Mountain Pose), bringing your hands to rest comfortably on your hips.
- Turn to the right and step your feet wide apart, about four feet.
- Turn your toes out slightly pointing to the corners of your mat.
- Exhale, bend your knees directly over your toes and lower your hips into a squat.
- Raise your arms above your head, keep them in Padma Mudra, facing up; arms must be away from your ears.
- Tuck your tailbone in slightly and press your hips forward as you draw your thighs back.
- Keep your knees in line with your toes. Soften your shoulders.
- Look ahead. Hold this posture for up to 10 breaths.
- To release, slowly return your hands to your hips. Keeping your spine upright, inhale, press firmly into your feet and straighten your legs.
- Step your feet together and come back to Tadasana.

BENEFITS

- Widens the uterus before pregnancy, which helps during pregnancy.
- Strengthens the spine, hips, calves, quads, lower back and the thigh muscles.
- Massages the organs in the abdomen, particularly the kidneys, the ovaries, urinary system and the prostate gland.
- It is associated with the Svadhisthana (sacral) Chakra, located below the navel.
- Helps to broaden the chest and correct postural defects.
- Enhances the functioning of organs in the thorax and improves respiration.
- Helpful to relieve menstrual pain and cramps.
- It helps to improve fertility.
- Energises the body, relieves stress and gives a general sense of well-being.
- Helps to reduce arthritis and sciatica.
- Stimulates the pelvis, respiratory and cardiovascular systems.
- Improves the alignment, posture, focus, awareness and builds confidence.

LIMITATIONS

Those who are suffering from hip, ankle, wrist, knee injuries and shoulder problems should avoid this.

While widening the legs don't go beyond your limit.

10 packs a semi-strong punch

A SHARADHAA

THE importance of rising after every fall is the bottomline of Karm Chawla's 10 which traces the roller coaster ride of a boxer's life and his relationship with his coach. On a broader scale, the simple sports-based drama also explores the profound concept of understanding that a person's greatest opponent is the self.

10 begins with Vijay Kumar (Vinay Rajkumar), an upcoming boxer, and his coach Pradeep Gowda (Gopal Krishna Deshpande), being interrogated by a sports academy when the former fails a drug test and accuses his coach to be behind it. After a series of investigations, the academy bans the two for a year. The story, which goes back and forth, gives a flashback of Vijay, and the banter between the two leads is written well. After Vijay's various successes, his association with an academy official takes control of his career, which does not go down well with the coach. Meanwhile, we also see his romantic side with Shruthi, a banker, who gets married to him. But the happiness is cut short when Vijay changes his track and starts enjoying a lavish lifestyle. As a result, he ends up losing matches. Rest of the narrative is about his downfall and how his coach pulls him back on track.

Director: Karm Chawla
Cast: Vinay Rajkumar, Gopal Krishna Deshpande, and Anusha Ranganath

Karm Chawla's film has above-average writing and direction, and hits the required highs, and delivers killer punches at the right moments.

RATING 3/5

Trials and errors are always required to move forward in life, and getting past the hardest circumstances before the count of 10, again used as a metaphor in the film. However, the plot revolving around boxing has less action and more conversations that act as dampeners.

With his filmography, it is clear that Vinay Rajkumar is open to experimenting, and in 10, he has given his best in playing the boxer. His efforts in learning boxing are evident inside the ring. With limited characters, the next best comes from Gopal Krishna Deshpande, who effortlessly performs as the coach. Anusha Ranganath gives good support while the remaining actors play their parts well.

The proceedings of this sports drama do not display exciting moments, but do give an intelligent insight take on boxing and life. 10 is definitely a movie that packs quite a solid punch for the audience.

Naveen's next titled Moolathaha Nammavare

CE FEATURES

NAVEEN Shankar, who won the hearts of the audience right with his debut Gultoo, and as a boxer in Dharani Mandala Madhyadolage has completed shooting for his next. Titled, Moolathaha Nammavare, the shoot of the film has been completed. Produced by Kiran Govindaraj the film is directed by Chetan Bhaskaraiah.

The latter, who comes from a theatre background, has also helmed short films, Moolathaha Nammavare marks his directorial debut for the silver screen. Billed as a family drama, the film highlights the father-son relationship and has senior actor, Shobhraj playing the role of a father. The entire film has been shot in Bengaluru and coastal locations.

Apart from Naveen, Mollathaha Nammavare, the film will also mark Tanya Kalrra's Kannada debut as a female lead. With Kavya playing a pivotal character, the cast also consists of Avinash, Malvika Avinash, and Telugu actor Sathyaprakash.

Moolathaha Nammavare will have music band Ek Cab scoring the music, and Juveen Singh is in charge of the background score. The film has cinematography by Chantu. Naveen's lineup on the project includes Hoysala and has him sharing screen space with the lead actor, Dhananjay. The actor is left with 3 days of the shoot to wrap up his portions.

Raj B Shetty's first look from Swati Mutthina Male Haniye out

The upcoming romantic drama is produced by Ramya

CE FEATURES

RAJ B Shetty's character poster from Swati Mutthina Male Haniye was released on Thursday. "Presenting the maverick Raj B Shetty as Aniketh in Swati Mutthina Male Haniye. Aniketh, which has its origin in Sanskrit, means one with no home," read a post from the production house.

This will be Raj B Shetty's third directorial, after Ondu Motteya Kathe, and Garuda Gamana Vrishabha Vahana. The poster shows Raj B Shetty seated in a serene backdrop. He is seen wearing a shawl and a woollen cap and looks lost in deep and unsettling thoughts. The makers had previously released the first look of Siri Ravikumar, who plays the female lead.

The makers who have set the film in Ooty and Mysuru recently wrapped up shooting which went on for 18 days as a single schedule. Swati Mutthina Male Haniye is currently in the post-production stage. The director in his previous interview with us had mentioned that the team chose simple locations, and that enabled them to complete the shoot in a short time. "The best part of this project was that I could create something that I love even in chaos," Raj said. He also mentioned that SMMH is a project that will do very well on OTT, and a call will be taken by the production house on whether to go for a direct digital release.

Swathi Mutthina Male Haniye was supposed to be Ramya's comeback film. However, due to some last-minute changes, Ramya decided to just produce the project, under her Apple Box Studios banner.

Swathi Mutthina Male Haniye also stars Balaji Manohar, Surya Vasishta, and Rekha Kudligi in important roles. The film will have music by Midhun Mukundan and cinematography by Praveen Shriyan.

THIS VISUALLY SPLENDID FILM IS NARRATIVELY HOLLOW

SUDHIR SRINIVASAN

PERHAPS it's unfair to James Cameron that we—the humans that we are—get used to beautiful things quickly. Where our mouths were agape for the entirety of the first film—as we vicariously lived in the beautiful Pandora and its painstakingly designed ecosystem—it's hard to feel the same wonder, as Cameron leads us further into Pandora. Perhaps it doesn't help that many new creatures simply feel like underwater equivalents of those we encountered on land in the first film. Hey, here's the underwater Ikran. This, this must be the underwater 'home-tree'. Oh, this underwater sequence in which the kid, Lo'ak, is being hunted, must be the equivalent of his father, Jake, running from a thanator in the first film. I could go on and on—just like the sequel does with these repetitions.

A filmmaker of James Cameron's stature is no doubt aware of these echoes—and this icludes even the film's final shot—and surely, these are by design. All those Cameron dialogues from Avatar make a comeback too. "You are not in Kansas anymore." "Outstanding!" "One life ends, another begins." Again, I could go on and on, but the real question is, what thematic purpose does all this repetition serve? What big, overarching narrative function is fulfilled by the idea of these echoes? In fact, after a while, even all the great action feels so stretched and lacking in real narrative tension that I began to draw parallels with other films in the auteur's career. The villain is singleminded in his desire to track down and murder his adversary. Terminator? While the climactic battle is going on, many important characters are in a sinking ship and are potentially drowning to death. You know what film it reminds you of. In a film that's comfortably longer than three hours, I sought more narrative pleasures, more emotional conflicts and arcs—especially from a film that hits the ground running.

And for that reason, perhaps the best part of the film is its beginning when Cameron so quickly, so gracefully shows us what Pandora has been like in peace. The Sullies stick together. New avatars are introduced, new Na'vi characters that are echoes of their older ones... Stephen Lang and Sigourney Weaver—who were both so important in the first film—return in new versions (as Na'vi Quarritch and young Kiri respectively), and they are both, once again, compelling. There's some hint of action at the very beginning—and you see even then that Jake Sully and company are not reliant on Eywa as much as they are on guns and ammo. Jake isn't gazing in wonder at Pandoran life anymore; he's now a guerrilla leader training foot soldiers, including his own sons, to fight back against humans. The dreaminess and peace of Pandora—such a rush in the first film—is replaced with war and resistance. We spend a good hour before the oceans usher in the wonders of Pandora once again.

RATING 3/5

AVATAR: THE WAY OF WATER
Director: James Cameron
Cast: Sam Worthington, Zoe Saldana, Sigourney Weaver, Stephen Lang, Kate Winslet

And the spectacle is glorious to behold and the oceanic creatures tremendously lifelike—aided by the sparkling sheen of bioluminescence. As something akin to a 3D animated documentary on imagined sea-life, these portions are pretty great—especially in IMAX, where the detailing is astounding. Often, it's easy to forget that it's all VFX... it's easy to forget that these aren't Na'vi actors, shooting live-action. It's that good—and yet, where the experiential pleasures outweighed narrative deficiencies in the first film, here, perhaps on account of familiarity with this world—or perhaps for want of eye-popping ideas for Pandoran fauna—I was left craving a better story, something more dramatic, something more insightful, something that would contain more inner meaning. Diving deep into Pandora is all fine, but why don't we also dive deep into Jake Sully, Neytiri and Quarritch? "I got your children! Haha! Come, and get some!" feels like a letdown.

There are some emotional themes—even if they don't quite deliver the satisfaction of being fleshed out. There are outcasts and the bond between them. Just like Payakan, the outcast tulkun eager to return to its family, Jake's second son, Lo'ak, too longs to be recognised by his own. Much like Lo'ak's relationship with his father, Jake, is rather broken, so is Spider's relationship with avatar Quarritch. In fact, avatar Quarritch is easily the most fascinating character in this film. In Avatar: The Way of Water, however, despite all the running time, these interpersonal emotional spaces don't feel remotely as explored as the Pandoran sealife. Still, there are portions in the film that show what James Cameron can do at his best. How he can break you with his portrayal of tragedy, and how he can piece you back together with a euphoric moment of retaliation. I doubt I would have believed anyone telling me that a whale-like creature attacking a ship would give me perhaps one of the most rapturous cinematic moments of the year. And yet, Cameron manages that—even without the late James Horner, whose absence is dearly felt in this sequel and whose score for the first film enters and exits this film in spurts.

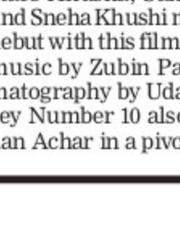
Cameron continues to argue for the environment, for the preservation of ecological balance, and these are important conversations to have in times of revolting plunder and self-defeating exploitation. There's definite utility in imploring our kind to see the beauty of life around us, in encouraging our kind to live in harmony with animal and plant life. It's admirable—and touching even—that the legendary James Cameron seems to have trained his singular focus on this message and dedicated the remaining years of his film career to the Avatar universe. Perhaps Jake Sully saying, "This is where we make our stand!" could well be Cameron saying the same with his films. And hey, perhaps this second film—as weak as the storytelling is—is just the ace filmmaker setting things up for something more sweeping in future films. The lack of narrative pleasures in this sequel depresses, but Cameron's craft wizardry makes you hope and yearn.

Shlok - The Desi Sherlock shooting wrapped up

CE FEATURES

BOBBY Deol, who was recently seen on OTT in Love Hostel and Aashram Season 2', has wrapped up shooting for his upcoming film Shlok - The Desi Sherlock.

Directed by Kunal Kohli, the film marks the debut of Ananya Birla in Bollywood.



Announcing the wrap, Bobby said, "And it's a wrap for Shlok. Had a wonderful time working with the A-team, some of the most amazing people I've worked with."

The spy thriller will feature Bobby in a never-before-seen avatar. The actor will also be seen in Sandeep Reddy Vanga's Animal, which stars Ranbir Kapoor in the lead. He will also return for the third season of Aashram, and the upcoming web series, Penthouse.

Vicky Kaushal, Anand Tiwari team up for new film

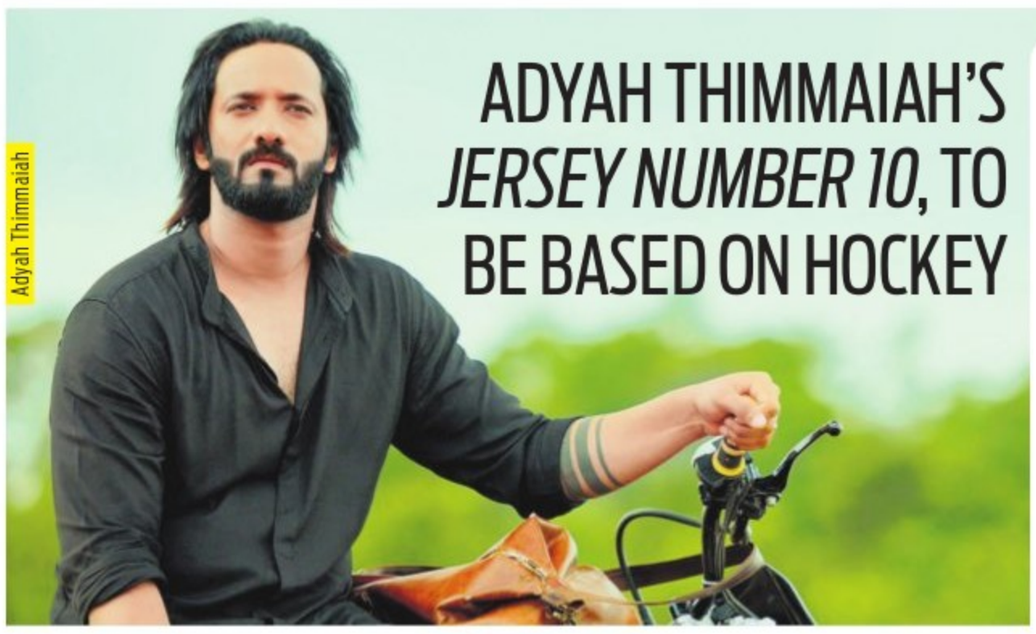
CE FEATURES

VICKY Kaushal is reuniting with his Love Per Square Foot (2018) director Anand Tiwari for a new film. Co-produced by Amazon Prime Video and Dharma Productions, the as-yet-untitled film will release theatrically on July 28, 2023. Alongside Vicky, the film will also star Triptii Dimri and Ammy Virk.

This is Prime Video's second film co-production in India after Ram Setu (2022). Leo Media Collective, co-founded by Amritpal Singh Bindra and Anand Tiwari, are also partners in the project.

Anand had previously directed the musical drama series Bandish Bandits on Prime Video. Talking about his new film, Anand in a joint statement with Amritpal said, "We are excited to make our theatrical debut working alongside two of the biggest champions of storytelling in India – Prime Video and Dharma. The film is a wholesome entertainer. We are certain that the audiences will love watching a story that hasn't been told before."

Karan Johar of Dharma Productions said, "Anand Tiwari's upcoming film is special on several counts. It is helmed by a master storyteller and features Vicky Kaushal – a National Film Award-winning actor."



Adyah Thimmaiah

ADYAH THIMMAIAH'S JERSEY NUMBER 10, TO BE BASED ON HOCKEY

CE FEATURES

Jersey Number 10 is an upcoming sports drama, based on the less-explored game in Kannada cinema: Hockey. Adyah Thimmaiah, who plays the lead, has also produced the film and written the story of it along with his mother, Chondakki Thimmaiah, apart from directing it. He has so far essayed supporting roles in multiple films; Jersey Number 10 marks his debut as a hero.

The shooting of the film has been completed and is currently in the post-production stage. "Apart from highlighting hockey, the film explores a beautiful grandfather-grandson relationship. Dattanna's character also wishes to become a a hockey player but he misses the opportunity because of his anger issues. So he encourages his grandson to take up the game, but he turns out just like his grandpa. How the two overcome all these obstacles and be part of the game is the story of Jersey Number 10," explains Adyah. He adds that the film also has elements of a commercial entertainer along with a relevant message.

The film has been shot in Mangaluru, Chikkamagaluru, and Bengaluru. Jersey No 10 also stars Anusha, Sanchaya, Soni, and Sneha Khushi marking their debut with this film. The film has music by Zubin Paul, and cinematography by Uday Ballal. Jersey Number 10 also stars Chandan Achar in a pivotal role.
